House Dems Weigh Plan to Break Tax Stalemate

IKE'S PLANS IN AUGUSTA UNALTERED

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower's headquarters kept mum today regarding a suggestion he end his golfing vacation and make a personal inspection of jobless areas.

At the same time, however, there was no slightest indication the President intends to alter his vacation plans. All signs still are he will stay on at the Augusta National Golf Club until about April 19, with a brief interruption early next week to keep two previously announced Washington engagements.

The suggestion the President end his vacation in favor of a tour of unemployment areas was made in Washington Wednesday at the AFL-CIO jobless rally attended by more than 5,000 delegates. The proposal came from Mrs. Min Luyre Matheson of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

At the rally there were other critical allusions to Eisenhower's golf.

At a news conference today James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, was told about the criticism. He was asked whether Eisenhower had considered altering his vacation plans because of it.

"I haven't any comment whatsoever," Hagerty replied.

On another matter, Hagerty said in effect there has been no change in Secretary of State Dulles' plans to complete his rest period at Jobe Sound, Fla., before deciding whether he is physically able to continue in his Cabinet post.

Hagerty was asked for comment on a published report (Washington Post and Times Herald) that Dulles will return to his job and concentrate on preparations for the Big Four foreign ministers conference to be held in Geneva next month.

"I can't confirm it," Hagerty said, adding that the situation still is as Eisenhower outlined it at a recent news conference.

Witnesses Say They Saw Boy at Crime Scene

PITTSBURGH (U)—Two persons say they were present when 14-year-old Jerry Paek allegedly admitted the slaying of Mrs. Lillian Stevick, 54, in Brackenridge last Nov. 17.

Police Chief Edward Vrotny of Brackenridge testified Wednesday that Paek told him: "I just kept hitting her until her arms fell to her side."

The police chief said Paek also told him he used a lead pipe which he had concealed in his sleeve.

The other witness, Mrs. Bernice Smith of Brackenridge, said she was present in the district attorney's office when the boy re-enacted the slaying.

Mrs. Smith claimed she was chased by Paek on the night of Nov. 17 while she was going home from a movie.

Other witnesses testified at the two-day old trial that they saw Paek near the area where Mrs. Stevick's body was found.

Pretty Commoner Marries Her Prince Charming Friday

TOKYO (AP)—The pretty commoner marries her prince Friday in the climax of a storybook romance which has all Japan gasping with delight.

"I am passing each day wrapped in an indescribable state of tension," murmured 24-year-old Michiko Shoda as the hour of her tradition-shattering marriage to Crown Prince Akihito drew near.

An intelligent, high spirited girl unknown to Japan's millions less than five months ago, she is destined to ascend the 2,600-year-old chrysanthemum throne as Akihito's empress, the first commoner ever to do so.

Conscious of the burden she will assume as consort of the 25-year-old royal heir, she told newsmen Wednesday night: "I am praying in my heart, that I may be able

Murder Trial Coverage in Depth

Reporters surround Connie Nicholas, center, after her murder trial in Indianapolis, Ind., was delayed due to the death of a court official. She is charged with killing her wealthy lover, Forrest Teel. — (NEA Telephoto)

INDIANAPOLIS (U)—Minnie B. (Connie) Nicholas returned to the witness stand today, after a day and a half of legal and political confusion, to tell how she killed her fickle, married lover.

The trial was resumed for the crucial details about the July 31 shooting of playboy executive Forrest Teel although two persons had been named clerk of the court.

Two Marion County commissioners added to the confusion by naming their own clerk in opposition to the clerk named Wednesday.

While the uproar spread through the ancient courthouse, Judge Thomas J. Faulconer took matters in his own hands and gave an "acting clerk" designation to Edwin McClure, the appointee of Gov. Harold W. Handley.

Commissioners Eph Virt and Lester (Bull) Durham named Mrs. Harry J. Gasper, widow of the clerk who died Tuesday night, as their choice for clerk.

Lad Admits Slaying 12-Year-old Neighbor

DETROIT, Mich. (U)—A 12-year-old boy, object of a night-long search by police, and volunteers, was found beaten to death in a garage at the rear of his home in suburban Dearborn today.

Police said a neighbor boy admitted that he had beaten Jeffrey Paxton to death after a quarrel. The neighbor boy was taken to police headquarters for questioning.

Sheriff's Office Probing Robbery At Sugar Grove

Bandits hit Sugar Grove elementary school sometime during the night, but details on the robbery were unavailable today.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Don Allen was still investigating the incident at press time.

The Deputy and State Trooper Henry S. Miller apprehended two more in connection with a series of robberies in the Pleasantville-Titusville area over a period of a year. A more complete story on three picked up earlier this week will be found elsewhere in this edition.

The two who were lodged in Warren County Jail today were: Ronald E. Allen, age 22, of Elbion, and Elva A. Allen, 38, of Pleasantville.

Both were to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Fred Berry at Starbrick this afternoon on burglary charges.

At the same time, Robert Harris, 27, of Pleasantville, will be brought before Berry. Harris was picked up earlier this week but had not been charged.

Coast Residents Must Learn To Live With Sonic Booms

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—San Franciscans, exasperated by sonic booms for three consecutive days, got this word today from aviation experts:

Learn to live with the problem—it will get worse.

That applies to any place where aircraft fly faster than the speed of sound.

"No one has the secret for dispersing the pressures that cause such vibrations," said Dr. Max Heaslet, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's theoretical aeronautics branch. "I'm quite sure in saying that."

"We've known for a long time that a plane traveling horizontally at supersonic speed—in excess of 650 miles an hour at 35,000 feet—will induce a sharp pressure disturbance on the ground," he said.

Civil Defense Prepares for National Alert April 16-17

Warren County Civil Defense moves into high gear this week to prepare for the national alert next Thursday and Friday, April 16 and 17. A special Flood Exercise calls for the cooperation of families living in Warren's flood areas.

The flood alert will take place next Thursday between 8 and 9 p. m. For the first time, Civil Defense will actually test its new rescue plan of four district stations to help evacuees. Families who want to practice what they will do in case of a real flood will want to take part. They are asked to telephone CD headquarters at 263 or 14 between 8 and 9 o'clock Thursday night, April 16.

CD will then refer the caller to crews at each of the carefully organized district stations. Families will be evacuated from their homes in trucks, station wagons or the CD ducks and taken to their district station.

Next, the family will decide where to go in case of a real flood—to relatives, friends or a CD Welfare center. They will be transported to these points.

The four district points will be located at Decker and Iseman's Service Station, Beech street and Pennsylvania avenue, for the West Side; Ettinger's Keystone Station, Hickory street and Pennsylvania avenue, for the South Side; First Lutheran church, Third avenue and East street, for the Water street flooded section, and Grace Methodist church, for the East Side. For next week's flood drill the Water street district station will be located at the YWCA because of construction work at the First Lutheran church.

Civil Defense's great success in weathering former floods was called largely a matter of luck by W. C. Fuellhart, councilman. (Turn to Page Eighteen)

Action on Measure To Hike Teachers' Pay Is Ruled Out

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG (AP)—The chairman of the House Education Committee today ruled out any action on proposals to increase teacher pay and give more state aid to schools until after the tax deadlock is resolved.

And even then, said Rep. Jeanette F. Reibman (D-Norhampton), there's a serious question that the dollar-conscious Legislature would approve expanded spending for schools.

"I think it is the most important issue before this Legislature," she told the Associated Press. "However, you have an economy-minded Legislature this session. That raises a question."

Organized teachers have asked for a pay boost that the Pennsylvania State School Directors Assn. has estimated would cost $8½ million dollars in the next two years.

On top of that, the school directors' union also will meet in New York April 30 and May 1 prior to the start of negotiations with the steel industry May 18, also in New York.

CALLS BOARD MEETING
PITTSBURGH (AP)—David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, today called a meeting of the union's executive board for April 13-14 in New York.

The union's wage policy committee also will meet in New York April 30 and May 1 prior to the start of negotiations with the steel industry May 18, also in New York.

INDIANA BOYS DIE IN OLD REFRIGERATOR
GARY, Ind. (U)—Two little boys crawled into an unused refrigerator on the back porch of their home and suffocated Wednesday.

Gale Holbrook, 5, and his brother, Jay, 3, were found when their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Holbrook, and friends turned back to the house after a frantic search of the neighborhood. A deputy coroner said they had been dead about four hours.

Garment Worker Invites Ike To Visit Coal Fields

WASHINGTON (AP)—A woman labor leader has invited President Eisenhower to "come and visit the coal fields of Pennsylvania and see how the unemployed live."

The invitation was extended by Mrs. Min Luyre Matheson of the Wyoming Valley District Council of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

She was one of a dozen regional labor leaders who spoke Wednesday on conditions in their home areas at the AFL-CIO unemployment rally in the District of Columbia National Guard Armory.

"I would like Mr. Eisenhower to see what goes on in Pennsylvania and not just Augusta, Ga., and the wealthy men he associates with," Mrs. Matheson said.

CAIRO SAYS VISAS GIVEN TRIBESMEN

By WILTON WINN
CAIRO (U)—Cairo radio says Iraq has granted entry visas to 2,000 Kurd tribesmen from the Soviet Union in addition to 855 who reportedly passed through the Suez Canal Monday on the Soviet liner Gruzia.

The broadcast gave no source of the information. There was no confirmation. The reported movement of Kurds from the Soviet Union has aroused fear that the Communist ranks in Baghdad are being strengthened.

Baghdad radio acknowledged that a Soviet vessel is expected to land a boatload of Kurds in the Iraqi port of Basra within 9 or 10 days. But it said these were repatriates who fled to the Soviet Union years ago and included 460 men, 108 women and 252 children.

Egyptian officials reported when the Soviet ship passed through the Suez Canal over the weekend that 855 Kurdish men trained in guerrilla warfare were aboard, along with arms for them.

Sources close to the government of the United Arab Republic said it would not take any action on transfer of the Soviet Kurds to Iraq until they actually were on Iraqi territory.

The U. A. R. government's concern stems from its belief that the Kurds are being sent to Baghdad to strengthen Premier Abdel-Karim Kassem in his feud with U. A. R. President Nasser and Iraqi Arab nationalists who oppose the growing Communist influence on Kassem's government.

Head of Flood Committee Points Out Many Benefits Dam Would Bring to Area

Numerous benefits the Warren area could expect in the construction of the Kinzua flood-control dam were pointed out by Merle W. Kremer, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Flood Committee, at a meeting in the YWCA last evening attended by 25 representatives of civic, labor and service organizations.

Basing his statement on comparative figures established at other flood-control dams, Mr. Kremer estimated the Kinzua Reservoir would attract between two and three million sight-seers annually. And that a large percentage of these sightseers would be vacationers who would spend more than a day or two in the area. That the huge dam would supply us with a constant supply of pure water in such quantities that it would attract new industry into the area. And that this constant flow of water would make the Allegheny far more suitable for recreation—swimming, fishing and boating.

On the other hand, Mr. Kremer pointed out, if something isn't done in the not too distant future the economy of our community is faced with serious consequences. There will be a loss of industry, a devaluation of property, as well as the personal losses sustained by individuals. That, "a dollar washed away in a flood is gone forever." And that, even those who live on a hill, as I do, lose good American dollars when there is a flood in this valley."

At the conclusion of his talk Mr. Kremer called for questions from the floor. A number of questions were asked, and answered, which turned the last thirty minutes of the session into an informal discussion.

Opening the discussion the chairman described the meeting as a "touchdown rally" to bring flood protection to the Warren area. He pulled no punches in saying that flood protection is the most vital issue facing the community today.

Basically, he asked those present to go back to their respective groups and work towards getting signed resolutions from their organizations supporting the construction of the Kinzua Dam. He did this, because it is an established fact that until this controversial issue is resolved there is little or no hope of getting state or federal aid to finance any other play.

Senator Johnson Lines Up on Side Of Unemployed

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (U)—Swift political footwork by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson has put him on the side of the unemployed for whatever 1960 may hold in store.

His action tended to counter earlier criticism of his leadership in Congress' extension of an emergency jobless pay program last month.

Johnson, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for his party's next presidential nomination, made his move during the course of a full employment rally Wednesday sponsored by the AFL-CIO.

He introduced in the Senate—and announced at the rally—a proposal for an 11-member commission to take a first-hand look at unemployment and report to Congress within 60 days what to do about it.

BRUSH FIRE
UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A brush fire early today swept about 40 acres of Fayette County land near the old DuPont Powder Co. plant between Uniontown and Fairchance.

About 60 firemen battled the blaze for several hours. Three small sheds in the path of the blaze were destroyed.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Russell Bufalino, 57-year-old Luzerne County dress manufacturer who ran afoul of immigration authorities after attending the Apalachin, N.Y., gangland convention, has lost his fight to avoid deportation to Italy.

His petition to stay an order of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service was denied yesterday in an opinion handed down by U.S. District Court Judge George A. Welsh.

Judge Welsh also rejected the Kingston, Pa., resident's request he be permitted to leave the United States voluntarily and re-enter on a visa.

Bufalino was born abroad. At the deportation hearings, however, he contended that he was a native of Kingston.

Genius of Design Succumbs After A Brief Illness

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Frank Lloyd Wright, 89, colorful and controversial genius of design, died at 4:45 a.m. today in a Phoenix hospital after a brief illness.

A giant on the national and international architectural scene, Wright underwent an operation Monday for removal of an intestinal obstruction. He had been stricken Saturday at his winter home near Scottsdale.

Only an hour before his death, Wright's condition was reported as unchanged.

Wright was almost as noted for his pithy comments as for his unusual buildings.

"Early in life I had to choose between honest arrogance and hypocritical humility," he said at the age of 87. "I choose honest arrogance and have seen no occasion to change."

Born June 8, 1869, in Richland Center, Wis., Wright designed more than 700 buildings around the world to leave a lasting imprint on the building of today.

The most famous included the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo, the Guggenheim Museum in New York, and Price Tower in Bartlesville, Okla.

In 1948 the American Institute of Architects named him the 15th winner in 42 years of its gold medal "for distinguished service to the advancement of the art and the profession of architecture."

But there was no love lost between Wright and members of his institute. Some of his sharpest (Turn to Page Eighteen)

U.S. Seaplane With Ten Aboard Missing

TOKYO (U)—U. S. Navy seaplane with 10 men aboard is missing between Japan and South Korea, the Navy reported Thursday night.

It said the P4M2 Marlin had last reported near Cheju Island, South Korea. It was on a training flight from Iwakuni Naval Air Station, Japan.

U. S. Air Force and Navy planes, five Navy warships and four Japanese Coast Guard cutters hunted for the missing twin-engine seaplane.

Aboard were three officers and seven enlisted men from the Navy's Patrol Squadron 50 at Iwakuni. Their names were withheld.

Physicians Casually Taking Free Check Ups at Meeting

By LIEF ERICKSON
SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Twenty-one cases of serious or potentially serious illness have been uncovered among the first 350 doctors to submit casually to free physical examinations while attending the American Academy of General Practice convention here.

These findings were made by a group of physicians and technicians in the first large-scale undertaking of that nature by the academy.

The convention and the project have one more day to go, so the final figures on undetected ailments among the doctors will be somewhat higher.

The physical examination center is manned by a volunteer staff of 140 nurses and technicians. Ten to 15 examining doctors from a volunteer staff of 70 are on duty.

A $40,000 layout of the latest in laboratory and testing equipment, including electronic blood counters and on the spot x-ray readings, makes possible the immediate reporting of findings. Twelve electrocardiographs are used for heart studies. A cardiologist analyzes their records.

Dr. John D. Humber of San Francisco's Southern Pacific Hospital is the center's director.

He reported these 21 cases of serious symptoms discovered in the first 350 checkups:

Four cases of glaucoma, a dangerous pressure disturbance the eye.

One rectal cancer.

Three enlarged livers.

One abdominal mass, requiring surgery.

NEW G.O.P. PROGRAM IS STUDIED

By FRED B. WALTERS
HARRISBURG (AP) — House Democrats today weighed the merits of a new plan proposed by Republicans for breaking a stalemate on Gov. Lawrence's 264-million-dollar sales tax package.

The strategy calls for offering Lawrence's proposals to the House on a piecemeal basis in order to obtain Republican help for passing the controversial plan.

"It seems to be a logical answer," said Rep. Thomas A. Frascella (D-Phila.), vice chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. "This could break the stalemate."

Frascella added that "by all means our caucus should definitely consider this" when it meets Monday before the Legislature resumes another week's work.

Meanwhile, Avery C. Adams, Jones and Laughlin Steel Co., board chairman and president of Pittsburgh, sent telegrams to top Republican House members urging their support of the Lawrence sales tax proposal.

"I believe this bill (Lawrence measure) is in the best interest of the people of Pennsylvania as a whole—and I sincerely hope you will support it," Adams said.

Adams telegram was sent before the GOP "split-package" plan or the 2 per cent sales tax suggestion were brought to light.

Another Democratic source, who asked not to be identified, said the GOP plan was being studied seriously.

Under the proposal, objectionable features would be snipped from Lawrence's sales tax bill and introduced as separate legislation. They include a proposal to extend the levy to beer and liquor sales and to automobile trade-ins. Strong opposition to these features has developed among the Democratic majority.

The plan also calls for offering separate legislation to boost the sales tax from 3 to 3½ per cent. Democrats would have to pass the increase without Republican help, but GOP leaders have indicated they would support it.

Brother of Dulles Warns of Peace By Compromise

NEW ORLEANS (U)—Allen Dulles, chief of the U. S. central Intelligence Agency, says "those who feel we can buy peace by compromise with Khrushchev are sadly deluded."

Dulles told the 25th annual convention of the Edison Electric Institute Wednesday that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is convinced however, that "the final victory of communism can be achieved mainly by nonmilitary means."

Dulles warned there is no evidence the Soviets or their Chinese allies have any plans to give up their idea of destroying free societies and replacing them with communism.

Dulles, brother of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, added he does not believe the Soviet authorities desire deliberately to provoke hostilities with the United States or the Western world at this time.

Instructions on Kindergarten Registrations

The following instructions on kindergarten registration have been released from the office of the superintendent of schools, Dr. Carl E. Whipple:

"Any child five years old now, or becoming five by January 31, 1960, is eligible for kindergarten next September. The Home and School Visitor, Mr. James Fales, has taken a census during the summer and the school principals have been checking with the help of their older students. If no one has called at your house by Friday, April 20, or you are in doubt about the Home and School Visitor stopping in last summer, call the nearest elementary school and check."

"Registration dates are scheduled for April 20 to May 8. Parents will be notified as to the specific date and time, and all are urged to come to school, bringing with them their children's vaccination and State birth certificates. Registration will be completed at this time and there will be a meeting with the kindergarten teacher to discuss various phases of the kindergarten curriculum."

"All children attending kindergarten this year are already registered for first grade in September. Any child six years old now, or becoming six by January 31, 1960 and not in kindergarten, should be registered. This may be done by calling your school principal for an appointment."

"Entertainment of next year's kindergarten children will begin the first week in May. This preview into kindergarten life helps make the child's beginning next fall a pleasant one. The different schools will give the parents notice when they are to bring their children."

"Kindergarten gives boys and girls the background needed to get off to a fine start in their school life. They learn how to get along together, become interested in reading, and learn the skills needed to start first grade."

MOSTLY CRIMINAL

Eight criminal cases have been prepared by District Attorney Samuel Bonavita for quarter session court Friday morning. They include: Charles Bush, malicious mischief; Kenneth Ellsworth, operating a car without owner's consent; James O'Neil, drunken driving; Sila Scandrett, drunken driving; Robert Dale Smith, driving during suspension; Melvin A. Stewart, attempted robbery; Cloyd R. Weaver, failure to stop at the scene of an accident; and Kenneth Thompson, burglary. There are also six non-support cases scheduled to be heard.

SPECIAL CACHET

The Herald: About 600 cachets were sold during the first week of the advance sale of first day covers, members of the Colonel Drake Philatelic Society were informed at last night's meeting. It was also announced that the society will issue a "maximum card," another type of first day cover in the form of a postcard. The "max" cards, as they are called, will feature a Mather photo of the original Drake Well. The cards, which are collectors' items, will cost 25 cents each, serviced. The society will advertise the cachets and maximum cards in the June 15 issue of Lynn's Weekly, leading stamp collector's magazine.

Malicious Mischief Charges Against Three

Three Warren men pleaded guilty to a charge of malicious mischief when they appeared before Martha Lawson, Justice of the Peace Wednesday.

Posting $100 bond each for release until next term of court were: Fred Falkenburg, 19; Robert Pierce, 23; and Theodore Madigan, 22.

The trio was picked up Tuesday evening on Conewango avenue following a complaint of attempted entry to a home. Eight bottles of stolen pop were found where the youths ditched it as police approached.

Questioning Wednesday revealed the three had committed several malicious acts in Jackson Run and Pleasant Township area. Stealing mail boxes, store signs and odds and ends, the loot was dumped on a South Street resident's lawn.

Occupation Tax Bill Limit Passes Senate

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence today received legislation to fix a 10-mill limit on county occupation taxes in all but Philadelphia and Allegheny counties.

The Senate-approved measure passed the House Wednesday 191-0. Under present law, occupation taxes levied by counties must not exceed the real estate tax rate.

Other Senate-approved bills passed by the House and sent to the governor would:

Require that all persons adjudged defective delinquents by the courts be committed directly to an institution for defective delinquents rather than be processed through classification centers (190-1).

Give employees of Pittsburgh authorities until March 1, 1960, to join the city's pension plan (191-0).

Cancer Crusade Off to Good Start in Youngsville

The Cancer Crusade got off to a good start Tuesday night in Youngsville when a Workshop was held in the Methodist Church under the supervision of Mrs. William Clark, Branch Chairman and Mrs. C. R. Hooven, District Chairman for District One.

Dr. Richard Peters, president of the Warren County Unit, American Cancer Society, spoke briefly to the group commending them on the wonderful turnout and expressing appreciation in behalf of the American Cancer Society for their willingness to serve as a volunteer in the 1959 Crusade. He stated that it was the Volunteer upon which the Society was dependent for the volunteers are the American Cancer Society. He spoke hopefully that it might be during the life span of those present the cause and cure, for at least some types of cancer, would be found, through continuous research made possible by the contributions of the people of Warren County.

Mr. Robert Young, Residential Crusade Chairman, gave his reasons for his deep interest in the Crusade and its objective—to help save lives. With the ability of a school principal Mr. Young explained the use of the materials in the Volunteer's Report Envelope.

Following the showing of the new film, "Never Alone", just received by the American Cancer Society, refreshments were served by Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Hooven.

Those participating in the 1959 Cancer Crusade in District One are: Branch Chairman, Mrs. William Clark, District Crusade Chairman, Mrs. C. R. Hooven. Community Crusade Chairman: Mrs. Armer V. Letters to Editor

Editor
Warren Times-Mirror
Warren, Pennsylvania
Now is the time for the public to know the facts. The past 21 years have witnessed an incredible increase in the number of people who drink. In a well documented study, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company states that there are now 65,000,000 people in the United States who drink. That easily approximates more than 60 per cent of the adult (over 18 years of age) population.

The past 25 years have witnessed a steadily mounting rise in crime, directly or indirectly due to liquor. There is hardly a city across the land that has not had to increase its forces for the maintenance of law and order to cope with the increase in murders, rapes, burglaries, assaults and other crimes attributable to the use of liquor.

Typical of the high cost of crime due to alcohol is the experience of a city in Michigan. This city collected in license fees $57,573 for one year, while expenditures due to crime related to drink totalled $245,000.

The dangerous rise in juvenile delinquency is front-page news in every town and city. And most of it is due to delinquent homes, neglectful parents, unhappy marriages, poverty and other conditions in which liquor is a factor.

Much of it is due directly to the ability of youth to obtain liquor in spite of legal prohibitions against selling liquor to minors. Moreover the lack of uniform national law about selling to minors permits immense violations. For example in New York the age limit is 18 whereas in New Jersey it is 21. All that is needed for boys and girls of 19 in New Jersey to saturate themselves with alcohol is to ride the ferry across the Hudson River or travel by bus through one of the tunnels.

The liquor traffic has never achieved distinction as a law-abiding industry. While most retail establishments obey regulations and the majority refrain from selling liquor on Sundays, on election days and on other prohibited holidays, there are many violations.

The prevalence of bootlegging and moonshining is growing. According to Donald I. Rogers in the New York Herald Tribune, bootlegging is now higher than at any time in the past 25 years. It is estimated that 400,000 people are engaged in illegal liquor business.

This hits three ways. First, it deprives state and federal governments of tax revenue. Second it takes away profits from the legalized liquor industry. Bootlegging and moonshining are reputed to produce and distribute double the quantity of liquor made available by the legalized industry. Third, it compels the employment of an immense force of state and federal police agencies to hunt down hidden liquor stills and close up illegal retail outlets.

Terrifying is the steadily increasing number of confirmed alcoholics now estimated at five millions. According to the U. S. Department of Public Health, alcoholism is now the fourth most prevalent disease among the American people, exceeded in number of patients only by heart disease, cancer and mental illness.

The old term "alcoholic" has become something new in the American vocabulary. What makes this so ominous for the future of the nation is that ten years after repeal, one out of eight confirmed alcoholics was a woman. Today one-fourth of all alcoholics are women.

How many more years must pass before the American people come to realize that their liquor policy resulting from the amendment, has brought about social and moral bankruptcy? This is the situation that confronts them on the 25th anniversary of repeal.

GYM SHOW EARLY SPRING EXTRAVAGANZA

Sat on the floor in Beaty gym the other night, and saw a rough sketch of the gym show, "Forward With Fitness".

Put together for performance this evening and Friday night, the show should be one of excellence. Although it's been over 15 years since Warren High School had competitive participants in gymnastics, the time is fast approaching when the Dragons will be entering competition once more.

Student's whole-hearted effort in their work is plainly visible. It's this type of participant that will make the show a success and put gymnastics back in Warren High where it should be.

Theme and background of the show, both last year's and this season's, is tied in with Presidents Eisenhower's proclamation for youth fitness in this country.

We suggest parents, friends and relatives of the students and interested persons, drop around and see the fine presentations. Tickets may be purchased at the door as long as they last.

Taken from the program is the following
"Laughter is the medicine of life:
It cures its ills, it calms its strife,
It softly smoothes the brow of care,
And writes thousand graces there."

Your attention is called to the special advertising in this issue in connection with "Demonstration Days" in Warren, Friday and Saturday. They are intended to encourage the clean-up and paint-up campaign. Free prizes—nothing to buy, just register. Study the many bargains that are offered by retailers in their advertisements today.

Activities among Hot Stove League officials and managers are pleasant reminders that summer is just around the corner!

WORLD TODAY
By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Time, like a cop handing out traffic tickets, taps each man in turn for over-parking. One by one the aging men who have led the world these past 14 postwar years are being forced to make way for others.

Because they move off the main street of activity only one at a time, the change may hardly be noticed.

Latest to go, under the burden of years and responsibility, is 83-year-old Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of West Germany. He decided this week to run for the less stirring and less important job of president.

As his influence diminishes — he tried to say Wednesday nothing will change — the attitude of West Germany toward East and West may undergo subtle shifts which the West, for sure, will watch carefully and with concern.

Only a few months ago John Foster Dulles at 71 was stricken a second time with cancer and may never return as secretary of state. He is being missed for, even though he was fairly rigid, he operated with determination.

President Eisenhower, 68, has less than two years left in the White House. Then he, too, must fade into the background. Even if he wanted it, and there is no sign he does, the Constitution forbids a third term.

It's about as certain as anything can be that the man who succeeds him in 1961 — Democrat or Republican — will be years younger and with ideas that cannot possibly be identical with Eisenhower's.

Sir Winston Churchill, now 84, for all practical purposes ended his career of leadership four years ago when, because of age and tiredness, he quit as British prime minister.

Joseph Stalin died six years ago at 73. Soviet communism took a new direction, a shrewder one, after his death.

But that bubbling, bouncing ball of energy, Premier Nikita Khrushchev, was reported this week to have suffered a dizzy spell and to have been warned by his doctors to slow up. He is 65.

The world won't know whether to sigh with relief or shudder with misgivings if he steps aside, for no one can predict what violent turn Soviet communism may take then.

Then there's the remarkable president of the Republic of Korea, Syngman Rhee, who spent half a century fighting for Korean independence and is still fiery. But he is 84.

What happens in his republic, now linked to the United States but under pressure from Red China and Red Korea, when Rhee has moved offstage?

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is 71, a firm ally of this country. For that matter, he had better be a firm ally. Alone against Red China he would lose his skin. But with his death the Red Chinese will increase the pressure to induce his Nationalists on Formosa to join them.

In India, which is trying to go its own way, Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru still runs the show at 69, seems in good health, still probably stands on his head in the morning to relax.

He has been the guiding force of India, a foe of communism at home where the Communists have made some progress despite him. What the attitude of Indians toward communism will be when he wears out seems unpredictable.

There are no reported signs that Yugoslavia's strong man, Marshal Tito, is thinking of an easier life in retirement although he is almost 67. He has broken with the Soviet Union but he has enemies at home. Yugoslavia could well take a new direction, toward either the Soviet Union or the West, when Tito is gone.

France's Charles de Gaulle is 68. No sign of fatigue in him, yet. He saved his country from chaos when he took over. There is no assurance there won't be chaos to join him goes.

Thought for Today

Therefore say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God; There shall none of my words be prolonged any more, but the word which I have spoken shall be done, saith the Lord God.—Ezekiel 12:28.

Here and There

Installation of the splash guard along the west walk of the Hickory street bridge, with the consequent ban of parking cars on the pavement inspires us to do a column on the structure, and others that preceded it. For most of the information an article we prepared for the Times-Mirror in August, 1938, comes in handy. It says in part: "Present-day talk of safety on every hand, and a reminder that it was just twenty years ago this week that the new Hickory street bridge was thrown open to traffic, recalls the fact that the very opening of the new structure across the Allegheny was adopted for the safety of the public of that day. The issue of the Warren Evening Times, August 16, 1918, publishes the following information about the bridge: 'The Suspension bridge over the Allegheny river, which has been in constant use for more than forty years was closed to traffic for all time shortly after eleven o'clock this morning. The closing of the old bridge and the opening of the new one was decided upon owing to the discovery of a broken steel brace at the north approach of the old bridge. The broken brace was discovered last evening by a resident who lives on the south side. The commissioners were notified and they at once launched an investigation which showed a number of other braces were in bad condition and as a matter of public safety ordered the bridge closed at once. It had been planned to hold off the opening of the new bridge until the work on the south approach had been completed but owing to the unsafe conditions found it was decided not to wait. The new bridge was formally thrown open at 11:25 this morning when County Commissioner Curt Mook in a few well chosen words delivered the bridge into the safe keeping of the borough. Burgess Burdett Gregory accepted the bridge on behalf of the borough, and in a short speech congratulated the commissioners. The rope barrier at the north approach of the bridge was removed at exactly 11:25 by Commissioners Cramer and Lowe. The first vehicle to pass over the bridge after it was formally opened was the tank wagon of the Atlantic Refining Company, and this was followed by a load of brick from the Highhouse Brick Yards in Pleasant township. Then a Tidoute man in a Ford.' A reprint from a paper of August, 1919, says: 'Ancient the completion and opening of the new Hickory street bridge, something about the first bridge across the Allegheny at Warren' will be of interest. This was a wooden covered structure at the foot of Hazel street, and was built about 1825. It consisted of two spans and was used by residents of Pleasant township until 1840 when one of the spans fell from its own weight. The other span remained intact for several years. Jack Shirley, who for many years was engineer for the steamer Rufus P. King, states that he was engaged in removing the stone from the north approach abutment, and in the process a horse was drowned. Warren was without a bridge until the Suspension bridge was built and opened for traffic in 1873. From 1840 until 1863, residents of Pleasant township crossed the river in skiffs, or if they had loads, and the stage of the water permitted, they forded either at the Sill farm, west of Warren, or below the railroad bridge where the water was also shallow at this period of the year. In 1863, the cemetery, which was located at the corner of East street and Fifth avenue became inadequate and Oakland cemetery was opened and the remains interred in old cemetery were transferred. It was then necessary to establish a ferry at the foot of Liberty street. This proved anything but satisfactory and the opening of the Suspension bridge was hailed with delight. During several months of the year it was impossible to cross the river because of the ice or the swollen condition of the stream. During the war of the Rebellion the ferry was much in demand as scores of soldiers who died upon the battlefield were sent home for interment. Some times it would require two or three hours for the funeral cortege to be ferried across. When the river was impassable the funeral parties were taken across the river on trains."

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★

World's Split Personality Is Reflected on News Wire

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—News today goes to two extremes. It takes a discerning reader not to be confused or misled by what he finds in his favorite newspaper.

There is bad news from many parts of the world. The significant point is that most of it is of Communist making.

In far-off Tibet, Chinese Communists overthrow the Dalai Lama, kill and imprison unknown thousands in a ruthless display of force to crush opposition to Peiping's aggression.

In Malaya, the young governor accuses the Chinese Reds of a plot to take over their country.

In Iraq, the Communists appear to have seized much power in Premier Abdul Karim Kassem's revolutionary government, subverting it to Moscow direction against the Arabs.

In East Germany, the Russians themselves, acting directly, threaten to drive American, British and French forces out of Berlin to push the iron curtain west.

THE NUMBER ONE JOB of the world's statesmen today is to find some way to curb the growing material power of the Communist countries, or to direct it into peaceful channels.

For the possibility of war breaking out in any one of the above-mentioned countries or in other areas like Formosa, Korea or Viet Nam—by accident if not by design—is something real and frightening.

Couple this with the still uncertain news on the rate of strontium 90 fallout from nuclear weapons testing—it's enough to make stout-hearted men say, "Oh! What's the use!"

BUT FORTUNATELY, there is no mass movement of people screaming into the night, leaving home and family for a final fling before it's all over.

One reason may be that there's another side of the news these days. It makes any kind of escapism seem foolish.

For the word from scientists and others who are trying to do something useful in this world is all to the good.

On a hundred or more laboratory fronts researchers probe cause and cure for the killer cancer.

Progressive research to improve polio vaccines and develop "four-in-one" shots offer the prospect of healthier generations to come.

In a completely different field, the second voyage of the atomic submarine Skate under the polar ice cap is something more than discovery of another site from which to wage missile warfare.

It is another chapter in man's exploration of this earth, to learn all he can about the place he lives.

DISCOVERIES OF THE International Geophysical Year—showing that scientists of different nations can co-operate for the common good—give new knowledge about the weather.

Missile probes and manned flight into outer space will yield even greater knowledge of the universe in which this earth is such an infinitesimal part.

There is a challenge about this that makes life to scientists and commoner men worth while. The future is not just despair and doom. It is for a richer, fuller life.

The greatest enigma in all this is man himself. He can learn all there is to know, from the microscopic to the cosmic. Still, if he has not learned how to find work for the unemployed, feed the hungry, provide all these miracles of modern medical care for those who need them and—most important of all—how to end wars, then man must admit that he is a failure.

This editorial also appears in the August 19, 1938, issue of the Times-Mirror: "An item in the 'Twenty Years Ago' column of this issue recalls that it was just a score of years ago today that work of dismantling the old Suspension bridge was started. At that time there was much speculation as to the cost of razing the structure, it being variously estimated at between $500 and $3,000. Started in 1871, and opened two years later, the bridge for almost forty years was the connecting link between what was first the borough of Warren and what was then known as Pleasant township. For that reason it was called 'The Pleasant Bridge.' Of suspension type, greatly resembling in structure, the famous Brooklyn Bridge, it was originally erected by a corporation. Later it was purchased by the county when the system of paying 'toll' was abandoned. Members of some of the pioneer families still residing on the south side paid heavily for the privilege of using the bridge. The Warren Centennial, published by the Library Association in 1897 as a review of the successful centennial of 1895, commenting on the bridge contains this prophetic statement: 'Below the bridge the river sweeps in a beautiful half-moon curve past the town, which is built upon the high plateau on the north bank, the buildings along Water street being confined to the north side, leaving the bank of the river open, to be converted in the near future into a pleasure-ground for enjoyment of the people.' Later the writer had this to say: 'Some time after my death there may be a free bridge where the beautiful suspension toll bridge now hangs; but I can't tell you just how long after; but it is thought within the next hundred years a free bridge will

ALLERGY IN THE FAMILY TREE
A person with a family history of allergy usually inherits the predisposition, or capacity, to become sensitive to some agent. The father may develop hives whenever he eats eggs, but the son may be plagued with asthma due to dust or animal dander. Allergy is becoming a major problem in the U. S. A. Ten per cent of the population is bothered and the number is bound to increase because of the hereditary aspects of the condition. In addition, our industries are producing more and different chemical products all the time and these substances are potential offenders.

For these reasons, the offspring of allergic parents should not be exposed unnecessarily to trouble makers. Avoidance of allergens may not be easy or practical, but there are advantages in stalling off allergic manifestations as long as possible.

Eczema in infancy may be the first clue that Johnny is predisposed to the condition. Mary might develop colic, vomiting, diarrhea, nasal stuffiness, coughing, or wheezing that is traced finally to cow's milk. These symptoms may clear up, but unless the allergic aspect is pursued and steps are taken chronic allergy is in the making.

Experience shows that the usual story is eczema or colic in infancy due to foods such as eggs and cow's milk; asthma in childhood from dust, including animal dander; and, later, hay fever from pollen.

There are so many potential agents that could lead to allergy, no one can avoid them all. This is why the specific offenders must be ferreted out and an attempt made to minimize contact with them.

The most common food allergens in children are milk, tomatoes, eggs, chocolate, cola drinks, legumes, strawberries, cereals, beef, potatoes, cinnamon, fish, pork, and corn. The most common inhalants are

NEW YORK (AP) — Personal debt totals are climbing — up 13 billion dollars last year alone. But don't worry too much. Personal savings are climbing even faster — up 13 billion dollars in 1958.

How some people—obviously a lot of them — can meet their bills and sock away part of their take-home pay may puzzle you if you're among the harried many who say you can't.

The answer probably will have to be left up to the individual. It isn't confined to certain income brackets. Many in high brackets run into debt and many in low brackets manage to add a bit to their nest eggs in good times or bad.

General prosperity isn't the answer. Actually it's in the recession years that the savings rate rises.

For example: In 1955 when business was booming Americans on average added $1.63 to their personal debt for every $1 they added to long term savings. But in 1958, when the first half was down in the books as a recession period, they added $1.33 to their nest eggs for every $1 increase in debt—their best showing since the immediate postwar period.

The federal home loan bank board reports that the 13 billion dollar increase in savings last year—at the rate of six cents of each takehome dollar—brings the total to nearly 277 billion dollars. It counts as nearly 10 million individual savings your bank savings account.

span the river at this point. Pleasant township, will in time, become a part of Warren, and there will be no cross-purposes as to what the price of the free bridge will cost." (Editor's note—The Pleasant Township referred to in the last sentence is what is now the South Side of Warren borough)

The Bridesmaid Wears Organdie

Her Dress Contrasts That of Bride

BY GAIL DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Even though the bride trails down the aisle in yards of ruffles and bows, her bridesmaids will be wearing dresses that are short though sweet.

The reasons for this are many and they have evolved from thousands of weddings and much trial and error. Since the bride is generally conceded to be the star of the show, she dresses in the traditional, dazzling white. Therefore, her bridesmaids present a pretty contrast dressed in pastels.

And if the bride wears a full-length, cascading dress, there's still further contrast in the short-length dresses chosen by her attendants. The last reason is a particularly sensible one. It's this: few girls can afford to have nonworking clothes in their wardrobes. The dress that puts in one appearance and one only is pure luxury. So most bridesmaids prefer the short length, a pale color and possibly a removable jacket or fichu to double the wearability of the dress.

Skirts are bouffant, of course, and propped by petticoats. All the palest pastels are with us this year, including a lovely shade of soft mauve. And most bridesmaids will wear little caps (miniature hats, really) matched to the dress color.

The bridesmaid rates her share of attention at the wedding in the kind of short, bouffant dress that she can wear after the wedding day. This bridesmaid chooses (left) a dress of white cotton organdie that will see her through many a summer party. Priscilla of Boston has added a touch of color in the olive green cummerbund. Hand-painted flowers, outlined with embroidery, wreath the neckline. An all-white dress in cotton organdie (right) by Celia Phillips has a removable fichu that reveals a strapless dress which is perfect for party wear. Embroidered and plain organdie alternate in tiers down the belled skirt.

McKinney-Hazeltine Marriage Announced

YOUNGVILLE — Shirley Hazeltine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hazeltine, Davis street, became the bride of Frederick McKinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McKinney, of Brown Hill, in a ceremony performed April 4 in the Pittsfield Wesleyan Methodist church by Rev. St. Clair.

Pianist was Patty McKinney and Evelyn Hodak, soloist.

The bride wore white Tuscany lace and nylon tulle over bridal satin, the fitted basque bodice of lace fashioned with hand clipped points of sequined lace. Her bouffant nylon tulle skirt formed a graceful cathedral train, and her fingertip veil of imported tulle fell from a crown touched with sequins and edged with seeded pearls.

Completing the bridal party, Gail Haight was maid of honor; Colline Morris, flower girl; Donald Nuttal, best man; groomsmen, Keith McKinney; ushers, Robert Gibson and Sidney Haight.

The bride's mother wore a gray lace gown and the bridegroom's mother, blue lace, each with a pink corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Pittsfield Community House.

The newlyweds will be at home on West Main street after Saturday.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesia has rejected a Dutch protest against nationalization of Dutch enterprises in the former Netherlands East Indies. The Dutch say the investments are worth more than a billion dollars.

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—The U.S. Navy today announced two casualties — a destroyer and a submarine — in an antisubmarine exercise in the Western Pacific. Neither ship was badly hurt.

The Navy said the submarine Raton was the target in a practice of new techniques of antisub warfare Sunday. The submerged sub rose to periscope depth to prepare for another attack when it and the destroyer George K. Mackenzie collided.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—After William Woodrum was found innocent of a burglary charge, he went to the office of a prosecutor Dan Hale to pick up some tools used as evidence against him.

But Woodrum left the office without them. He refused to sign a receipt for the tools, listed on a receipt as "burglary tools."

The Mature Parent

Understanding Needed for Mentally Ill, Not Suspicion

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Sometimes a mentally sick person will convince himself that he's the Messiah. Nothing you say will alter his belief that he possesses the perfect righteousness that entitles him to proclaim himself Savior.

If his doctor says, "Why, if you're the Messiah aren't you out working at it instead of weaving these raffia mats?" the patient will ignore the suggestion that there's any discrepancy between what he claims to be and what he actually is.

He'll say airily, "I'm just biding my time. I'm just waiting for John the Baptist to get finished preparing the sinners for my coming."

We may fear him, laugh at him, feel sorry for him. But he's not so awfully different from us.

When we say to Jimmy, "You disobeyed—and I want no more talk about it," we resemble the insane Messiah.

Like him, we are claiming to possess a perfect righteousness that entitles us to ignore any Jimmy thinks he's got.

We, too, reject the possibility that there could be any discrepancy between the absolutely right person we think we are and the fallible human being we actually are.

"We are all more simply human than otherwise," is perhaps the greatest statement ever made by America's great psychiatrist, the late Dr. Harry Stack Sullivan.

This year as a feature of its annual fund-raising campaign, the National Association for Mental Health is introducing Operation Friendship—a program to bring 750,000 visitors to the nation's mental hospitals in a week-long "open house" beginning April 26.

One of their reasons for wanting you to visit your local mental hospital is to reduce the stigma that ignorance attaches to mental illness.

It has never been a reasonable stigma. We attach no stigma to a relative or friend suffering from pneumonia. Having suffered from bad colds ourselves, we see nothing shameful in his lung congestion. Recognizing it as merely an intensification of our own colds, we take him flowers.

But when it comes to the mental hospital's Messiah, we take no understanding.

We make an outcast of him as though his illness were inhuman—when as a matter of fact it's just an intensification of our own glorified views of ourselves.

Vets and Auxiliary Events for Weekend

Veterans of World War I, Barracks 120, have several important events coming up on their schedule for this weekend.

The group will hold its monthly meeting in Stoneham Community House at 7:30 p. m. Monday, followed by refreshments served by the Auxiliary.

Ladies of the group will hold their regular meeting at 7:30 p. m., also, with newly-elected officers to be installed by Mrs. L. Maude Emo, president of Jamestown Auxiliary.

A good turnout is hoped for at both of these sessions.

An invitation has been received from Jamestown Barracks 1036 to attend a special meeting at eight o'clock this evening; also a tureen dinner at 6:00 p. m. Saturday. This latter affair will be for all Veterans and Auxiliary members and will be held in the Fenton building in Brooklyn Square.

Gotham Policemen Are Guinea Pigs For Drunkometer

NEW YORK (AP)—Now it can be told—the story of two New York policemen who temporarily gave up both their digestions and the society of fellow humans for science and the greater glory of the department.

It started in a Brooklyn courtroom, Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy explained Tuesday. A lawyer challenged the accuracy of the police department's drunkometer—a device used to measure the amount of alcohol in a driver's system. The lawyer claimed onion or garlic on a driver's breath would cause the same reaction on the machine.

Not so, said Kennedy. He called for volunteers to prove him right. Two chemists in the police laboratory stepped forward. They were Patrolman Jerry Matteace and Detective Davis Innella.

Matteace was assigned to chew, and swallow a pound of raw onions. Innella did the same with a sizable hunk of garlic.

Both tried the drunkometer—no reaction. Police observers grinned victoriously. Matteace and Innella staggered away, racked by nausea and reeking of garlic and onions.

Kennedy, jubilant, called a conference.

There he explained his findings, and a more fortunate cop gave a demonstration—by spraying essence of garlic and onion on the machine. The machine betrayed no reaction.

Kennedy left the next move to the courts.

Propose To Open State Forest Lands For Prospecting

HARRISBURG (AP)—A proposal to open state forest lands to prospecting went over to the Senate today.

The House approved it Tuesday, without debate, 200-1. Backed by the Department of Forests and Waters, it would open some 1,800,000 acres owned by the state to prospectors with the guarantee they will have first opportunity at developing any worthwhile mineral deposits they find.

Under present law, they have to risk their findings to competitive bids on contracts to mine deposits.

Its supporters hope the measure will produce a partial answer to the state's chronic unemployment problem by opening up new industries.

The proposal excludes most of the common minerals in Pennsylvania from prospecting and also slightly over one million acres of game land, state and historic parks and picnic areas.

Questions and Answers About Warren Schools

Readers are invited to send questions for use in this column to School Editor, Warren Times-Mirror. The questions are answered by the administration and staff of the Warren schools.

Question: "When will our new high school be finished?"

Answer: "The contracts to be signed this week provide for the opening of school in the new building in the Fall of 1960. There is a penalty clause which would force the contractors to pay $100 a day for each day beyond the deadline date. But a labor strike, such as a national steel strike, would hold up the work. Let's hope this doesn't happen."

Question: "How much does it cost the Board of Education to teach high school students to drive cars, including payment of the instructor?"

Answer: "The driver training program this last year cost the School Board $10,628.82. The State of Pennsylvania paid $3,285 of this amount. The instructors' salaries take up $8,927.35 of this total. We trained 142 student drivers last year. All eleventh grade students had the classroom instruction."

Question: "Since research has found that grade school children are at a good age to learn a foreign language, what is being done in our area?"

Answer: "The program is growing every year. Jamestown is now graders. Other New York schools which teach a foreign language to the youngsters include those in Hicksville, Mechanicsville, Guilderland and Schenectady.

"In Pennsylvania a listing shows that Allentown teaches Spanish in 4th, 5th and 6th grades. Of course, the so-called laboratory grade schools at state teachers' college towns now teach a foreign language to the youngsters, namely at Indiana, Millersville and State College. And the Belleville Mennonite School System offers German from 2nd through 5th grades.

"The Federal Government offers financial help to buy teaching aids for foreign language programs in the schools."

Question: "Does the High School commercial department ever survey employers to ask what training they wish boys and girls would acquire?"

Answer: "No. The commercial department offers three courses: Secretarial, Bookkeeping, and Salesmanship. Employers should get in touch with us if they prefer to hire a student with additional training, such as more liberal arts courses."

High School in Massachusetts To Omit Home Rooms

WAYLAND, Mass. (AP)—High school was never like this back in the old days.

The new senior high school, for which ground will be broken this month, will have five buildings and a campus, a domed field-house covering nearly an acre for sports and landscaped courtyards where students can congregate between classes. Reduction of interior corridors will sharply reduce construction costs.

The plan, drawn up by the Architects Collaborative of Cambridge, banishes home rooms. Informal libraries in the school's four "academic centers" are planned for student leisure time. The campus high school, planned for 850 to 1,200 students, will teach related subjects in each academic center.

One will house language courses, including English. In another, social studies will be taught. A third will concentrate on mathematics and other sciences. The fourth will concentrate the studies in the arts. Each will have three instruction rooms. In the social studies center, a lecture hall for 150 students will be balanced by seven discussion rooms for groups of 12.

Two Arrested as Camp Burglars; More To Follow

Three Titusville area men have been arrested for numerous burglaries of camps and summer homes stemming back to early 1958, Chief Deputy Sheriff Don Allen, Jr., reported today.

Allen and State Trooper Henry Miller investigated the several break-ins in townships of Southwest, Eldred and Spring Creek.

Charged with burglary before Frederick Berry, Justice of the Peace, were: Kenneth Thomas, 20, of Titusville; and Charles Allen, 20, also of Titusville. Allen is the son of Charles Allen, Sr., presently serving a two to five year term for a similar crime.

Other man picked up in connection with the rash of camp robberies was 27-year-old Robert Harris of Pleasantville. Harris was expected to be arraigned sometime today.

The trio also stole oil lease equipment and supplies in the townships. The stolen property was disposed of by dumping it into flooded Oil Creek in Crawford and Venango county when officers began to close in on their investigations.

Deputy Allen reported more arrests will follow after further inquiries.

Christine To Make Third Attempt for Marriage License

NEW YORK (AP)—Christine Jorgensen says she will make her third try for a marriage license some time in the next six weeks.

The entertainer, who went to Denmark in 1952 as a man and came back announcing doctors had changed her into a woman, was denied a license for the second time Friday, because her birth certificate lists her as a male.

The first denial of a license to 2nd Howard J. Knox, 38, a Washington statistician, came because he needed papers to show he had been divorced. He obtained them and Friday he and Christine tried again.

City clerk Herman Katz spent an hour and a half pondering her claim to womanhood with two assistants of the City Corporation Counsel. His denial left the way open for Christine to apply again, with "legally competent evidence."

"I need more papers, let's put it that way," said Christine. "Seven years ago," she explained, "when I came back from Europe. I asked my lawyer if it was necessary to change my birth certificate. He said no, but apparently I will need a new one."

Her lawyer, Roger Cowan, said this would take about six weeks, and requires certain medical records.

GIFFORD BLDG. OFFER

Jamestown Sun: The city has been offered $12,000 for the Gifford Building by Joseph Liuzzo of 16 Emory Drive. It was announced Wednesday the City Tax Sale Committee will turn the proposal over to council "as a committee as a whole" for study. Liuzzo informed the committee that he wants to renovate and rehabilitate the building and rent portions of it for stores. His bid includes a 60 day option, like the one granted United Refining Co. of Warren. The oil company offer at $12,000 for the property was okayed by the council. However, the firm decided not to exercise its option to buy the building. Plans were to demolish it and build a filling station on the site. City Treasurer Oscar Nordstrom said: "Mr. Liuzzo plans to fix up at least a portion of the building and put a new roof on it. The interior, floors, stairs—especially the second floor and up need attention. Of course one thing Mr. Liuzzo will have to settle is a $6,000 federal tax lien on the building." Liuzzo owns the plaza at Third St. and Hall Ave. and various other business properties in the city.

Wall and Snead Marked Men at Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Art Wall and Sam Snead were marked men today as the $15,000 Greensboro Open Golf Tournament got under way.

Wall entered on the crest of victories in his last two starts—the Azalea Open at Wilmington, N.C., and the Masters at Augusta, Ga. Snead has won here six times since taking the first Greensboro tournament in 1938. In the last 10 years he has finished lower than third only once.

Wall confessed to feeling a let-down after his tremendous Masters finish last Sunday when he birdied five of the last six holes to win.

He played his first complete round since then Wednesday, negotiating the par 71 Starmount Forest Country Club course, a 6,800-yarder, in two over par.

Both Snead, 46, and Wall, 35, have their work cut out for them. The field lists such top golfers as Mike Souchak, Doug Ford, Jay Hebert, Julius Boros, Ernie Vossler, Joe Campbell, Bill Casper, Bob Goalby, the defending champion, Dow Finsterwald and Lionel Hebert.

Revive Your Hair With Daily Care

Thin hair. Limp hair. Dry hair. These are the problems of the mature woman and they are not solved simply by getting a permanent.

Take a look around you and you'll recognize at a glance the hair problems of women in the mid-years. A head of thick, glossy hair which curls readily is the exception, not the rule.

What's the solution? Hard work. The same solution that's good for figure and skin problems. And what is the hard work that will restore hair to its past glory?

First of all, scalp massage at home. This should be done faithfully morning and night. You can rotate your scalp with your fingertips as you read.

Next, brushing. This means 100 strokes from scalp to hair ends each day. Regular and expert cutting to keep hair in shape. And a special shampoo aimed at your particular hair problem. This is essential.

Add hot oil treatments at home if you need them. You won't see results overnight. But if you're patient, you'll gain back lovely hair.

Teen-agers who fuss endlessly with hair and make-up and are casual about putting on clean lingerie each day are fooling only themselves. For the girl who is radiantly clean right down to the hide is the one who attracts other people.

To spend hours setting your hair in rollers and skimp on the 10 minutes it takes to rinse out bra, slip and girdle is making poor use of time. Of course, you should set your hair but you should set it in 15 or 20 minutes.

Here at home the marketing of petroleum products is being carried on in a widespread condition of subnormal prices," Searls said.

Companies that engage in foreign as well as domestic production face many problems abroad, he said, adding:

"To top all this, the determined and relentless drive of Communist Russia toward world domination has now taken the form of increasing pressure against the international oil companies."

"In contemplation of these many problems which face the oil industry at home and abroad, one is amazed by the behavior of our own Congress and governmental agencies."

In another speech prepared for the 3-day meeting Fred T.

Commissioners Gain Ground in Book Reauditing

County Commissioners Elaine Mead and Louis Crippen gained a step in having books of Prothonotary Ralph Sires re-audited for the years 1948-1955 inclusive following a decision from Judge Burton R. Laub of Erie.

Laub, sitting in the case following disqualification of Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., held a hearing on the objections filed by council for Sires Saturday morning. The Erie County Court jurist dismissed the preliminary objections in his decision which was revealed late Wednesday.

The complaint by Mead and Crippen charged that Sires had wrongfully charged personal expenses to the county during the period mentioned.

All interested parties have 20 days in which to answer the commissioners' action.

YOUNGsville

YOUNGsville — The National Defense meeting of Business and Professional Woman's Club will be held at 8:00 p. m. Monday at the National Forge clubhouse. James Wright will be guest speaker, showing a colored film concerning protection from fallout. All members are urged to be in attendance.

Club members attending the dinner-lecture sponsored by Titusville BPW and having as honor guest Ivy Baker Priest, United States treasurer, included Edith Morley, Irene Swanson, Millie Harner, Helen Piper, Mary Morgan and Evelyn Overturn.

Mrs. Evelyn Overturn was a visitor in Bradford Saturday, reporting work of the Penelec Demonstration Center in Warren is rapidly expanding and she will engage an assistant this year.

Last Monday, another group of Girl Scouts working on badges was added to two units started last week and these classes are proving most interesting. Leaders are Mrs. Niederer, Mrs. Sorenson and Miss Smock. More girls of the 8 to 12 age group, from Warren and McKean counties, have been taken, in addition to those already enrolled from Warren and Youngsville.

Mrs. Janet Smith, Dillon Place, with Mrs. James Johnson of Grand Valley, entertained at the former's home in honor of Mrs. Charles Johnson of Tidout. Twelve ladies were in attendance to remember the honored one with beautiful gifts and to enjoy refreshments served at a pink and white table.

Ruth Millett

Ruth Challenges Reporter Despairing Women's Lot

"For my part you can take back our education, our jobs, our cars, our votes, our independent money. I'd trade it all in for the pleasure of being clinging, dizzy, kittenish, wide-eyed, scatter-brained, frivolous, ext-avagant or just plain dumb for one year," says a British newspaper-woman.

We women may feel that way once in a while when the pressure of trying to combine marriage, motherhood, civic work, yardwork, social life, chauffeuring and maybe an outside job becomes too much.

But we couldn't stand being helpless, wide-eyed dependent, uneducated, uniformed and hog-tied inside four walls—not even for a year.

We're used to the freedom to come and go that the automobile has given us.

We're used to either earning our own money or being equal business partners with our husbands. We'd hate like fury to have to say "pretty please" every morning to get a hand-out.

We're accustomed to having—say about the way our children are brought up instead of waiting for Papa to be indulgent or to put his foot down, depending on his mood.

We're used to doing things for ourselves. What modern woman really wants to wait around helplessly until her big, strong man decides to do something she has the strength and ability and ingenuity to do herself?

We're good managers and know it's more satisfying to help build up a joint bank account than to squander a husband's money with extravagant unconcern.

We enjoy saying "I think" instead of "My husband thinks." We even enjoy thinking.

Nope, we wouldn't like to go back. Because while we may have paid a big price for our freedom, it's worth every ounce of the cost.

We'd never trade for what great-grandmother had.

Problems of Oil Industry Cited At Convention

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An oil executive said today the public and Congress must be informed of the problems of the oil industry to prevent it "from being hampered and tied down by adverse legislation and government controls."

David T. Searls, general counsel for Gulf Oil Corp., outlined the industry's problems in an address prepared for the eastern district meeting of the American Petroleum Institute's production division.

Lawrence Likes the Idea of Coal as Roadbed Material

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence is "very much impressed with the idea" of using coal as a roadbed material.

"If it means another use for coal," the governor told his news conference Tuesday, "it might mean revitalizing the coal industry in Pennsylvania."

Lawrence referred to a research program, suggested by the Curtiss-Wright Corp., to determine if coal—both bituminous and anthracite—can be used for paving roads.

The corporation proposed that Pennsylvania appropriate half a million dollars to test the durability of the coal base product on a dozen half-mile sections of experimental roadway.

"This might be the ray of hope we have been looking for for the coal industry for a long, long time," Lawrence said. He was cautious, however, about making a direct comment on whether the state should engage in such an enterprise with a private industrial firm.

The governor assured newsmen he would check with the State Justice Department on the legality of such a move before signing any appropriation measure.

Roy T. Hurley, Curtiss-Wright chairman and president, offered to produce the material for the experiment if the Commonwealth would provide the money.

"We'll have to make it legal," Lawrence said. "But then I'd be happy to sign such a bill."

The governor noted that seeking new uses for coal was already a part of his thinking before Curtiss-Wright made its suggestion.

To back this up, he pointed to a $500,000 appropriation for coal research which he has included in his proposed budget for the 1959-61 biennium. Former Gov. George M. Leader also set aside half a million dollars for such research during his term.

Lawrence said he had no idea how much coal could be utilized in Pennsylvania if the experiment proved a success and private industry began manufacturing the product.

Lady Rat Sought To Help Study of Breast Cancer

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. (AP)—A lady rat is being recruited to help find new clues to human breast cancer.

The rat can be given in just 60 days a kind of breast cancer similar to the human variety. It can be speeded up or slowed down by hormones.

Doctors have had to learn most of what they know about breast cancer from the bedside. Dr. Charles Huggins of the University of Chicago told this week's American Cancer Society seminar.

Now they have a convenient laboratory animal, the Sprague-Dawley rat.

A quicker method has been developed to give the rat breast cancer in 30 or 60 days, whereas it used to take months to years.

A remarkable 40 per cent of the rat breast cancers can be influenced by hormones—a percentage which is about the same for human breast cancers.

Dr. Huggins said there are some 2,000 hormone compounds that might have an effect on breast cancer but have never been tried.

Considering the untested hormone compounds, we've only taken a little peek through the keyhole and seen a roomful of treasures, Dr. Huggins said.

SANFORD

Unintentionally omitted last week were names of children baptized and dedicated at the Easter Sunday service. In Grand Valley, Amy Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Smith; Katherine Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hatcher. Joan Stufflebeam was baptized and received into membership of the church; Herb Persing was received as a member. At the Sanford service, Mr. and Mrs. James Scott presented their children, Sandra Kim and James Ilo.

Newton Dinner Club has postponed its gathering from the 16th to April 23 and will meet with Mrs. Adaline Weldon at Pleasantville.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Fuller returned Monday night from a two-week trip to Malverne, Long Island. They report visiting Hyde Park, the Jimmy Dean Show, Two Dollar, Big Pay Off, and other spots of interest. Mrs. Cora Foster, Jamestown, accompanied them on the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rhinehart visited his mother, Mrs. Mary Rhinehart, and Mrs. Clara Lynn at Corry Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Dunham and four sons were Sunday dinner and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gaber.

Lela Pierce has returned from a six-week speaking tour and is planning to return to Indonesia as a missionary. She has been home on furlough after spending four years in that country.

Mrs. Clyde Allen, taken ill in church Sunday, is reported much improved. Mrs. Doris Perkins, came Sunday to help care for her mother, who has had a heart condition for some time.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

The buffet supper has been popular for years, but the small sit-down dinner is once more being favored by hostesses. It is more work for the hostess, but it has the decided advantage of encouraging general conversation.

It is certainly more restful to guests to sit down and be served than to keep them jumping up and down to serve themselves.

The Rev. and Mrs. Harold West, of Millport, called at the Allen home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Robert Marshall is also on the sick list, the community wishing both ladies a speedy recovery. The Wests spent Sunday night at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Weldon returned Monday from a California trip.

Little James Ilo Scott, was burned quite badly Sunday, when he pulled a percolator from the table and showered himself with hot coffee, while visiting Mrs. Scott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mason, at Warren.

Braves-Yanks Picked to Repeat in 1959 Season

Early Predictions Indicate Openers May Be Rained Out

Hockey Prexy Is Sorry He Opened His Mouth Now

MONTREAL (AP) — National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell says "my mistake was in talking at all."

"I am sorry for having participated in or contributed to this mess."

The "mess" is the resignation of senior NHL referee Red Storey, who claims Campbell let him down by telling Bill Westwick, sports editor of the Ottawa Journal, he thought Storey "froze" in the crucial last minutes of the Montreal-Chicago semifinal Saturday in Chicago.

"I don't wear my crown of thorns too well," Campbell said in an interview with Vern Degger, sports director of the Montreal Gazette.

"I am not taking back or hedging away from this unfortunate situation."

"I thought Storey handled the Chicago game well for 50 minutes. But I felt Storey made an error in judgment on a late third period play in Chicago."

"They came the after-game chat with Westwick. That was my mistake, I feel I was a victim of bad faith that has precipitated a most unfortunate mess."

In the Journal Westwick later wrote that he had not violated any confidence.

Most Baseball Writers Picking Former Champs

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves will meet in a third straight World Series if the nation's baseball writers are correct.

Of 189 votes received by The Associated Press in the annual pre-season poll of the members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America, 175 thought the Yankees would win again and 79 cast their ballot for the Braves.

Nobody listed the Yanks lower than third.

Second-place Detroit was far behind New York with only five firsts. Chicago had seven firsts but not enough points to escape third.

San Francisco drew almost as many first-place votes as Milwaukee with a total of 65.

This is the day major league baseball starts busting out all over. The traditional openers, both threatened by rain, got the pennant races moving a day early in Washington and Cincinnati this afternoon.

In the American League the Washington Senators and Baltimore Orioles were paired in the nation's capital with Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the middle. The Veep threw out the first ball as a stand-in for President Eisenhower, who is vacationing with the GOP — Grand Old Putter.

The expected scramble for the National League flag was to get under way with Pittsburgh's long prostrate Pirates, still burning from last year's pennant fever, going against the darkhorse Reds.

The good-pitch, no-sock Orioles, sixth last year in the AL, went into the new season with the best exhibition record of any major league club. They capped that spring success (17-3) with a 3-0 decision over Philadelphia at Baltimore Wednesday. Rookie Jack Fisher knocked off the Phils with a three-hitter.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, the club that was too good to finish seventh last year but did, led National League entries in the exhibition with a 13-10 mark, although they dropped a 12-3 decision Wednesday to the Milwaukee Braves at Jacksonville, Fla.

In other exhibition finales Wednesday, Cincinnati's southpaw rookie, Jim O'Toole, beat the Chicago White Sox 3-1 with a two-hitter at Indianapolis; a five-man pitching act by the San Francisco Giants blanked Cleveland 2-0 on three hits at Omaha.

The Phils, 11-14 for the exhibition schedule, managed just three singles off Fisher, a 20-year-old right-hander, who walked a two-run triple.

Milwaukee, favored to have a third World Series date with the Yankees, chased Sandy Koufax with a six-run first inning against the Dodgers.

O'Toole nailed a starting job with the Reds (15-13) after giving up a first-inning home run to Jim Landis. Dick Donovan was the loser for the White Sox (13-10), after blanking the Reds for five frames.

Jack Sanford, Al Worthington, Paul Giel, Joe Shupley and Don Zanna got together for the white-wash job on the Indians (12-17) with Worthington the winner for San Francisco (15-13).

The Yankees (14-12) batted around in a four-run first and breezed at Richmond. But Kansas City (12-13) needed an RBI double by Whitey Herzog in the ninth to get past Dallas.

The 22-year-olds couldn't seem to get going at all.

They banged away before a TV audience and a cluster of 981 Chicago Stadium customers with inaccurate shots and frequently clinched.

There were no approaches to a knockdown and there was little blood.

Boy Scouts Carry Torch

Biggest relay team in history of United States will carry the Friendship Torch to Chicago to burn at Pan American Games Aug. 27-Sept. 7.

It will run the longest route, 1,464 miles from Mexican border at Laredo. Team will be composed of nearly 3,000 members of Boy Scouts of America.

Tradition calls for delivery of the torch from the site of the most recent Games in this case Mexico City, where 1955 competition was held.

Mexican lads will deliver the torch at the border where American Scouts will take over. Using official Boy Scout pace—run 50 steps, walk 50—American youngsters will advance the torch along the highways of five states at the rate of one mile every 12 minutes.

Running only in daylight, they will cover approximately 50 miles a day.

Big Technicality in Patterson-London Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—After all the squabbling over a site and the TV contract only one technicality remains to be solved for the Floyd Patterson-Brian London heavyweight championship fight at Indianapolis May 1.

It's the small matter of getting Brian into the country from England.

Compared with the fuss over setting up the fight in the first place and then switching it from Las Vegas, Nev., to Indianapolis, the matter of getting London a visa seems no more than an overlooked formality.

The American consul general in London said that all is needed is for a petition to be filed with immigration authorities by the promoters stating that Brian is needed.

The important business of signing a new TV contract was cleaned up Wednesday, although promoter Cecil Rhodes Jr., declined to reveal what the television network (NBC) agreed to pay.

Perkins Winner Of Split Verdict In Armstead Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—Eddie Perkins of Chicago won a split 10-round decision from Los Angeles' Paulie Armstead Wednesday night in a spirited bout between lightweights.

The 22-year-olds couldn't seem to get going at all.

They banged away before a TV audience and a cluster of 981 Chicago Stadium customers with inaccurate shots and frequently clinched.

There were no approaches to a knockdown and there was little blood.

Former Sports Writer Does A Story About Stan Musial

The Writer

The Man

By WILLARD FOLEY

Former Warren Sports Writer

A former employee, Stan the Man Musial and his old boss, the writer, enjoyed a happy meeting last Sunday (March 28) at Al Lang Field in St. Petersburg, Fla., where the Cardinals were winding up the 1959 training session and Grapefruit League competition.

After the conversation concerning days together in Daytona Beach, Fla., and later in Donora, Stan's home town and where we lived on two different occasions, I then told the great National Leaguer, or warned him, that I "am now acting in the capacity of a newspaper man, for the Warren, Pa., Times-Mirror."

Immediately after blasting five straight pitches to various fields, homers in any park. Stan said, "Just say I will again be right up there" when asked "How are you going to hit in 1959?"

The above may seem meaningless as the entire baseball world takes it for granted that he not only will be right up there but may again be at the top, a position far from new to him as he has led the pack a great many times and on three different occasions has been voted National League's Most Valuable Player and seven times NL leading batsman.

April 14 he is being honored in Los Angeles for meritorious service and accomplishment in his long career.

Reminded Stan that when he was a raw rookie once, in an exchange of correspondence, had asked the same question and his answer was, "340. (He finished that season with an average of approximately .355). He just flashed his well known smile and laughed.

Stan's mates feel he will be able to hit hard and consistently as long as he is able to amble up to the plate, and his display of blasting last Sunday, leads the writer to believe they are absolutely correct.

Stan, though now nearing 39, is still the same likeable chap he was in the early 40's, but admits he is finding it more and more difficult as the years go on to get in good playing condition although his eyes still retain the same sharpness that has solved the game's greatest pitchers these many years.

As in previous years Stan again this season has been permitted to follow his standard procedure as far as training is concerned, in arriving in playing condition, and his method is evidently not too far wrong as was proved in 1958 when he got off to his best start, hitting approximately .400 during the early weeks, practically carrying the club on his broad shoulders.

However, this year it naturally seems to the writer that Stan has been taking it quite easy in his method, having been used in games very sparingly. Through Sunday Stan had only appeared at the plate on 15 occasions but was hitting, while in the batting cage, as hard as ever.

Stan still bubbles over with confidence, partaking in pepper games, shagging flies but at the plate, really comes out with plenty of authority. The rookies, as well as the seasoned veterans, invariably stop their activities when The Man grabs his healthy weapon, and travels plateward.

I once asked Stan who the toughest pitchers were he had faced and his reply was promptly: "Rip Sewell and Johnny VanderMeer, of Two No-Hit fame." This time, however, didn't ask Stan (Polish for Stan) to bring me up to date as this, too, now I think would be meaningless as records indicate that he would find it difficult to name a single pitcher. "He treats them all like cousins."

In addition to his tremendous success in baseball, Stan has also done well financially in the business world, being a partner in two very classy eating places, a director in a large St. Louis bank, in addition to other enterprises in which he has interests.

Asked Stan to bring me up to date in regard to his family, being especially interested in a brother who had a tryout in Chicago Cub chain. He ended his career, as far as baseball is concerned, years ago and is now in insurance business in Monongahela, the great slugger explained.

As in past years Stan was not quartered with the baseball club in a St. Petersburg downtown hotel, having a place on the Gulf beaches, instead, to be with his family, his wife, the former Lillian Labash, his high school girl sweetheart; and two of his three youngsters, including his new baby who was just three weeks old when the training season got under way.

Stan's oldest son, Dickey, named in honor of the former White Sox pitcher, is a student at Notre Dame like his illustrious dad. Musial's first love is football, where he was outstanding while in high school.

Also had a little visit with Elston Howard, great Yankee and a hero of the 1958 World Series, who appeared here the past winter for Knights of Columbus Sports Banquet.

"I will always have a warm spot in my heart for Warren, a fine little city, and the home of my very close friend, Gail Nelson, who I naturally visited, also meeting his fine parents, too," Howard said.

"When you see Frankie Fleshi, the radio sports announcer, be sure and give him my best regards," added the Yankee star.

Gail and Elson, Army buddies for 18 months, played on the same basketball team in their Army days.

Celtics Can Tie It Up With Win Over Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Boston Celtics can stretch two winning strings into a noose for the Minneapolis Lakers tonight in the National Basketball Assn. title playoffs.

It's all over if the Celtics win again in the fourth game tonight. In the process they would.

1. Run their victory chain against Minneapolis to 22 games dating back to March 1957.

2. Become the first NBA team to sweep the league's playoff finals with four in a row.

On the Lakers' side the game may be important chiefly as a sentimental milestone. Unless all listening posts are wrong Johnny Kundla is coaching the Lakers for the last time in this series.

Johnny, a charter coach in the NBA and the Lakers' only one except for a half-season adventure by George Mikan last year, evidently is headed for the University of Minnesota coaching job.

It may be announced Friday at the school's Board of Regents meeting, even if the Lakers bring off a surprise and win tonight.

The championship means $12,000 to the winning team, $7,000 to the loser. If Boston collects it will be the second time for the Celtics in the last three years.

of training camps in the interest of Spalding company.

Charlie was at Pitt in the days of Warren's Al Wolfe, who according to Jerry Wunderlick, captain of Pitt's great teams of that era, once told the writer that "Susie", as Al was called them at School, had more natural basketball ability than Hyatt, who went on to All-American greatness, or anybody else. In his estimation, had he applied himself.

Wunderlick is now basketball coach at Donora High School where he has been turning out terrific teams for many years.

"The one fellow I remember best, the only Army buddy who hasn't contacted me," were the remarks of Bob Miller, Cardinal strongarm righthanded pitcher when the name of Johnny Foley of Warren was mentioned.

Bob and Foley served together in Japan in 1945 where the latter was in charge of the Army gym and all athletic teams, excepting boxing. Miller appeared on the scene when the baseball call was issued and was the mainstay of the base pitching staff for the remainder of the season, late reporting to Phillies and then to St. Louis Cardinals.

"Tell Johnny, for me, I am now the father of two youngsters, age 7 and 4," related Miller. Writer said, "Bob, Johnny will be the father of four before the summer is over." "What do you mean it?" Miller exclaimed.

Foley and Miller plan an early reunion in Pittsburgh this summer at Carlton Hotel when Cards stop over there on an Eastern swing.

Reds and Bucs Open NL Play in Cincinnati Today

CINCINNATI (AP)—The revised and edited Cincinnati Reds open the National League baseball season today against the revised and edited Pittsburgh Pirates with some familiar faces working out of different dugouts.

These two teams, with question marks at some posts, took part in one of the biggest winter trades—a seven-player deal.

For example, slugger Frank Thomas is slated to start at third base for the Reds this time, while opposite number among the Pirates is former Redleg, Don Hoak. Baseball observers have generally picked both teams to finish in the first division, but Pittsburgh has the edge in the pre-season predictions, attracting a lot of second-place votes on strength of its excellent pitching and strong defense.

A capacity crowd of 32,000 is expected at Crosley Field.

Pirate Manager Danny Murtagh named right-hander Ron Kline to oppose Bob Purkey, another former Pirate.

The Reds had to borrow Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler from Kentucky to throw out the first ball in opening day ceremonies. Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said he was sticking to a campaign promise of no outside engagements for his first six months in office.

Sportsman's Show Presents Lines Of Sporting Goods

Area shoppers are noticing placards in store windows announcing Farrah Grotto's Sportsman's Show in Beatty cafeteria April 24 and 25.

Second annual show "promises to far surpass the first venture along these lines that was presented by the Grotto last year," the committee said today.

Space in the cafeteria is allotted to merchants in presenting their 1959 line of sporting goods, equipment and toys to the public. Judging from early reports of Rusty Templeton's committee, there will be merchandise and equipment shown by various exhibitors that will "excite interest of everyone regardless of what their particular sports are."

Hot Stove League and Warren County Unit, American Cancer Society district crusade chairman are pictured making plans for a benefit baseball game April 25. Left to right they are: Harry Tourtellott, Irvin Poust, both of Hot Stove; Dick Meacham, district crusade committee chairman; and Robert Johnson of the baseball league. — McGarry Photo Center.

Plans have been made for a double-header baseball game, opener of the Hot Stove season, on Saturday, April 25 as a benefit for annual April cancer crusade.

Members of the local ball league and cancer crusade representative met in Municipal building recently to formulate the plans.

Charlie Musante, founder of the league 10 years ago, will throw out the first ball. Frank Files will be at the mike announcing line-ups.

If April showers dampen War Memorial Field April 25, ticket holders are assured a rain date, May 2.

Tickets will be available from little leaguers at a nominal fee. "It is indeed gratifying" to know that boys as young as these little leaguers take civic responsibility to heart and help in launching a successful '59 crusade for local unit of Cancer Society," a representative of the local unit said.

Loes Returns Home; Has Bigwigs Wondering

BALTIMORE (AP)—Billy Loes again is an Oriole and facing Baltimore baseball brass is the problem of what to do with the unpredictable pitcher.

"If the guy can pitch, and he certainly looked like he could when he left us, we might as well use him in relief and see how much help we can get out of him," said Manager Paul Richards.

"After this I doubt if we could trade him anyway. Who would want him?"

The Orioles announced Wednesday they had voided the trade that sent Loes to the Washington Senators for pitcher Vito Valentini last week.

Oriole General Manager Lee MacPhail said it was decided to cancel the deal voluntarily.

Red Witt Will Soon Be on Buc Mound

PITTSBURGH (AP)—George Witt of the Pittsburgh Pirates will be ready to pitch by next week, says Dr. Joseph Finegold, team physician.

The right-handed pitcher was sent home from the Pirate spring training camp at Fort Myers, Fla. with an ailing right elbow.

Finegold Wednesday said Witt's trouble was an inflamed area in the elbow socket. He prescribed daily whirlpool treatments and rest.

UPSTREAM CASTS

DRIFT

When you are casting upstream to a fish, cast diagonally so the fish sees the lure before line or leader. The above diagram shows how a sinking bait, or fly, is swept to a fish, first, because the subsurface current is faster than that of the surface. Thus, the line doesn't scare the fish. You can do this and still keep slack out of line to set a sharp hook when a fish takes the lure.

Pittsburgh Buccaneers

Part VI—Resume

Pirates of '58 finished second. Pirates of '59 are aiming higher—which means the pennant.

That they are a contender for 1959 National League flag is a well-known fact. But Milwaukee is defending champion. Braves have been in the pennant race for last three years—winning last two. They are definitely the team to beat.

But they have definite problems — without Red Schoendienst, their cog and infield spark. They have outfielders who are not in top physical condition. Then there is the question of Warren Spahn's age. Just how many more years can "Old Man River" keep rolling along his 20-wins-a-season way?

Then there is San Francisco. Giant club is as young if not younger than the Pirates. They have power to burn and speed. And they have Willie Mays. What they lack most is effective and dependable pitching.

Most experts consider that the 1959 National League flag winner will come from one of these three clubs—Braves, Pirates or Giants.

Pirates have more than adequate pitching, starters and relief men. They are knee-deep in pitching. With speed in the outfield and an infield of Hoak, Groat and Mazeroski, their defense is one of the best in the league. They have hitters in the line-up who are singles and doubles men rather than sluggers.

Infield positions are set with the exception of first base, as are outfield spots. The Buc bench is strong.

The '59 Pirates do not lack for speed either. Biggest problems on Pirates of last year were solved with the Frank Thomas trade when Bucs got Hoak for third, Burgess as another catcher and Harvey Haddix as a starting lefthanded pitcher from Cincinnati.

Big problem remaining is who'll play first. If Kluszcwski's back holds up, he will provide power to spare. If Stu plays, he will also provide power. And there's Nelson.

While most of the experts pick Milwaukee to repeat in '59, they concede that the Bucs have best chance of beating out Braves. Las Vegas betting odds on Pirates winning the flag are 4 to 1. Bob Prince predicted the Bucs would win the flag on a recent sports show.

All things being equal, Pirates have the best chance at National League crown since the 1958 club.

Labor Department Anxious To Revise Prevailing Index

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department wants to revise its consumer price index because American spending habits have changed a great deal in 10 years.

Among the reasons: Americans now buy more television sets, cars, and home appliances—and less dress clothes.

The present index is based on the spending habits of Americans in 1950. To get the index, the government prices about 300 commodities and services in 46 cities.

The index, popularly known as the cost of living index, comes out every month. The system for figuring it could be revised by January 1964 for an estimated $4,600,000, the department says.

In testimony made public today, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell asked a House Appropriation subcommittee for funds to start the revision.

Mitchell testified that the index' basket of commodities, prices and services was growing out of date because of these changes in American life:

1. Families are larger. There are more old people and more children.
2. The population has grown 15 per cent since 1950 and has shifted geographically. A higher proportion of families now live in the Southwest and West.
3. Families are moving to the suburbs, where people spend less on dress clothes and outside entertainment and more on houses and gardens.
4. Family incomes are higher, even when account is taken of higher prices. More money is spent on television, cars, travel, education and medical care. A smaller proportion of income is spent on food. Food expenditures themselves go heavily for frozen foods, meats and fresh fruits.

Speaker Predicts Better Times for Elderly Women

NEW YORK (AP)—Bertha S. Adkins, undersecretary of welfare, has predicted a period of improved job opportunities for older women in the next six years.

But she cautioned that older women would get the jobs only if they keep in step with progress.

In a speech prepared for the New York State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Miss Adkins said Labor Department figures show the country will need 10 million more workers by 1965. But the labor will have only five million more men by then than it has now, she said.

"This means additional opportunities for women of all ages," she said, noting that extra opportunities probably would arise in the professional, managerial, official, and supervisory fields.

The undersecretary said women, who have provided warmth and culture for their families, have contributed already to society.

"And the same intelligence, integrity and warmth this woman gave to her family could well be turned, when her children are grown, in other directions," Miss Adkins said.

But she said the older woman will "have to retrain, take refresher courses or even learn new skills or study in new fields," if she intends to take advantage of new opportunities.

Jersey Lad With New Car Has His Dream Shattered

FREEHOLD, N. J. (AP)—If the tale of Garry Corless and his car followed a storybook plot, he would be rewarded for his industry. Instead he has seen a dream shattered.

Garry, 16, bought a sleek 1957 convertible last November with a $700 loan from a Freehold bank.

He kept it in his family's garage, washing it, polishing it and looking forward to next Sept. 5. That's the day Garry turns 17 and will be eligible for a driver's license.

The youth went to work as a drug store clerk so he could pay back the loan. He has repaid $300.

But Friday the police came and impounded the car. They said it is a stolen vehicle.

Garry had bought the car from his uncle, Michael Lembo, 35, of Neptune Township, operator of an auto body shop.

The FBI said a ring stole autos in Brooklyn, N.Y., took them to the custom body shop, and had the serial numbers changed there. Garry's convertible was one of them.

Lembo was arrested Thursday and is being held in Neptune without bail. He is charged with receiving six stolen cars and altering serial numbers on five.

House Bill Would Provide Veterans Birth Certificates

HARRISBURG (AP)—All honorably discharged veterans would be permitted to obtain free certified copies of birth certificates and similar documents under a bill given House approval Wednesday.

The vote was 187-3. The measure now goes to the Senate.

Under present law, only disabled war veterans may obtain certified copies of birth, death and marriage certificates and divorce decrees without payment when they need the documents to claim death benefits, compensation allowances and family or dependency allotments.

Other bills passed and sent to the Senate would:

- Increase the allowance for assessors in Fourth to Eighth Class counties to $16 a day and grant them eight-cents-a-mile car allowances (185-0).
- Increase the fee to aldermen, magistrates and justices of the peace to $12.50 in trespass and breach of contract actions (185-5).
- Eliminate the requirement that corporations pay tax on increases in indebtedness other than in capital stock (190-0).

Harold Fulmer, coordinator of the Rescue Division, worked out the plans with his assistant coordinators, George Shurey, Harold D. Baker, Charles Lane and Lewis Spangler. Each district station will be headed by two CD trained rescue workers, with a staff of two auxiliary police to control traffic and enforce rules, two Welfare workers for registration and aid, a Red Cross worker, a Salvation Army representative, a registered nurse, two Transportation Corps workers, and two Boy Scouts for errand service.

"The success of the entire exercise depends on the cooperation of families in the flood areas," Fuellhart declared. "If they don't call us for this drill, we won't know whether our new procedure is worthwhile."

Ike's Plans

Its lobbyists today to map plans to push a jobless aid and job-making program through Congress.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said he was very satisfied with a rally of over 5,000 delegates which crowded the vast National Guard Armory Wednesday as a mass protest against what leaders called government inaction.

"Today we'll start implementing our program," Meany said.

That program called for further jobless benefits to unemployed workers, plus a vast public works and social legislation plan the union leaders said would turn America to full production and full employment.

About 600 union leaders and their staff and lobbying representatives meet with Meany and other Federation leaders to map strategy plans to put over their far-reaching legislative program.

Frascella said, however, that the strategy entails the risk of "splitting up" the Democratic majority.

Frascella said there has been some talk that McCann was prepared to offer his own solution "but I haven't heard anything further on that."

Kremer mentioned the various counter proposals which have been made by those who oppose the building of the Kinzua Reservoir. He pointed out that seventy-five thousand dollars had already been spent in investigating these counter proposals and to date not one of them had proven to be as feasible as the Kinzua project.

That the suggested Conewango project would cost twice as much ($199,000,000.) and displace over twice as many persons as the Kinzua Dam. That the suggested system of small dams would occupy more total land and give less protection. And that strictly local flood protection would cost far more than the city budget could stand. He was supported in this statement by John Carbon, chairman of the Warren Borough Council Flood Committee, who said that without state or federal aid, which is out of the question so long as the Kinzua issue remains with us, local plans could not possibly be attempted. Mr. Carbon emphasized by pointing out that the estimated cost of such local flood protection measures would cost ten times the Council's annual budget.

The organizations represented at the meeting were:

County Commissioners—Blain M. Mead, Lewis L. Crippen; Warren Borough Council Flood Committee—Nick Merenick, John Carbon, chairman, R. W. Meacham, J. C. Torrance.

Other organizations—Junior Chamber of Commerce, Charles A. Thomas; Warren Kiwanis Club, Vinton E. Finzer; Warren Woman's Club, Mrs. H. R. Roberson, president, and Margaret Messerly; Central Labor Council, Karl Peterson, Jr.; Warren County Planning Association, Henry Fueshart.

barbs were reserved for his fellow architects.

He once described the Institute as "the American Institute of Appearances" and on another occasion declared: "The only thing wrong with architecture is architecture."

But architects were not the only objects of his wrath.

He didn't like cities. He called them "vampires living on the fresh blood of the countryside and villages, sterilizing humanity." Urban apartment developments: "Nothing but sanitary slums."

He called the design of the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo. "half baked." Government buildings in Washington he termed "stone quarries erected to satisfy a grandiose and insatiable as it is insignificant."

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Famed Architect Frank Lloyd Wright, who died today at Phoenix, Ariz., had some sharp barbs for Pittsburgh on a visit here several years ago.

He once remarked that the Allegheny County Jail, a mammoth stone block building in midtown, "in point of American culture is worth all the other buildings in Pittsburgh put together."

Wright served as a consultant in the famed Gateway Center development but he said it was "a fantastic fiasco." He claimed the area would be spoiled by erection of skyscrapers.

Unemployment Shows Drop During March

HARRISBURG (AP)—Unemployment in Pennsylvania dropped during March for the second consecutive month, William L. Batt Jr., labor and industry secretary, said today.

Batt said, however, that despite the decrease in the number of jobless, the unemployment level in the state is still about 1½ times the national rate.

The mid-March estimate of 457,000 idled in Pennsylvania was 35,000 below the mid-February figure, Batt said.

The secretary said the figure represented 9.9 per cent of the labor force compared with 10.7 per cent for the previous one month period.

Pretty Much Up To Mother How Gifted Child Turns Out

By G. E. HODENFIELD
Associated Press Education Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—It's pretty much up to mother how that gifted child in your family turns out as a student, an expert in the field said today.

"The mother is usually the one that encourages the children to be better students," declared Dr. Elizabeth Drews of Michigan State University in an interview.

"She's the one who goes to the encyclopedia to help look up the answers to tough questions, who takes the children to the museum, who encourages them to read more books."

If this sounds like father's job is to play catch with his boys in the back yard and hand out the weekly allowance—well, Dr. Drews has put years of research into the subject and she sticks by her guns.

Not that she's happy with what she has learned. Father is really the more intellectual type.

She says: "A woman's role is to be feminine. She is expected to be submissive, agreeable, and conforming. An intellectual, on the other hand, is expected to be creative, outspoken and individualistic."

"That brings up a conflict—a girl asks herself 'Am I a girl or a brain?' and she knows that boys don't especially like brainy girls."

That may be the reason that Dr. Drews has found that twice as many gifted boys go on to college as gifted girls. Gifted girls are more apt to neglect academic courses in high school and take such courses as typing and shorthand.

A wide range of problems concerning gifted students has been getting special attention here this week at the convention of the Council for Exceptional Children.

Fugitive Bell Is Leading a Quiet Life in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Earl Belle, under indictment in the United States in connection with his complex business dealings, says he is waiting for the right time to come home and clear his name.

"I am waiting until I can get a fair and dispassionate trial," the 26-year-old Pittsburgher told a reporter Wednesday.

"Meanwhile, I am leading a quiet life in Brazil."

Belle said he had been unable to find work and the only thing left for him to do was to return to the United States.

He scoffed at reports that he is driving around South America in a Cadillac and living a plush life in Brazil.

"People who see me taking the bus every day," said Belle, "will tell you I do not have a Cadillac."

He also denied losing money in business ventures in Brazil. He said he had not been connected with any.

Mitchell Ostwind, Belle's associate, who also fled Pittsburgh to South America, said he, too, was out of work. He said it was impossible to get a job because he didn't have a Brazilian work permit.

The U. S. State Dept. has invalidated the passports of both Belle and Ostwind, but both men refuse to surrender the passports to the American consulate in Rio.

Case of Papal Guard Is Left To Authorities

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican today turned over to Italian authorities the case of the dismissed papal guard who Wednesday shot the commander of the little corps which guards the life of the Pope.

Italian police probably will escort the former guard to the frontier and turn him over to the Swiss to take whatever action they deem appropriate.

The Vatican, after preliminary investigation, turned its findings over to Italy under provision of the Lateran Pact, which specifies that the tiny church state can turn over to Italian authorities any cases of law violation which may occur in its territory. It was also noted that the former guard who fired the shots had come into Vatican territory from Rome, where he had been staying since his dismissal.

The 48-year-old guard commander, Swiss Col. Robert Nunlist, was wounded twice while struggling with ex-Guardsman Adolf Rucker, 34. Taken to a Rome hospital for removal of a bullet from his back, Nunlist was reported out of danger today.

Rucker was slightly wounded in the face. He was under guard in the Rome hospital.

The Vatican said the former guard "had insisted on being re-enlisted into service after having been expelled last year because of epileptic symptoms caused by cranial trauma (brain injury)."

Students Gathering at Kane for Concerts

KANE, Pa. (AP)—Some 216 pupils from 33 high schools in a seven-county area began rehearsals today for three choral concerts tomorrow and Saturday.

The pupils come from schools in Potter, McKean, Tioga, Cameron, Lycoming, Clinton and Elk counties. About 15 will be selected for the state chorus at Carlisle later this year.

The Kane concerts will be under the direction of Charles A. Davis, an instructor in music theory at Indiana State Teachers College.

Goddard Explains Plan For Campsite Rentals

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Forests and Waters Department will raise minimum rental fees for campsites in certain state forest areas, Secretary Maurice K. Goddard reported Wednesday.

Goddard said the department will set up a zoning plan for leased forest camp sites which will raise rentals on choice sites from $15 to $25. The increases will take effect at the expiration date of present leases.

The secretary added that many existing rental fees will be unaffected but that persons leasing camp sites on choice ground could expect an increase.

The new zoning plan also will prohibit permanent camp lease sites in areas in or around existing state parks in order to permit future expansion, Goddard said.

The same policy will apply to other areas which might have to higher potential use, he said, such as future sites for new recreational areas, dams for flood control or recreation, or watersheds for public water supply.

Warm Spring Evening Works on Students

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The ingredients: a warm spring night, an important lacrosse game with Princeton Saturday, and about 30 restless Johns Hopkins University students.

The result: a water battle and bonfires on the university's Homewood campus and blocked traffic on nearby streets.

The demonstration brought fire engines, at least half a dozen policemen, and one police dog to the campus Wednesday night.

There were no injuries, no arrests.

Dean C. Wilson Shaffer said he was undecided whether disciplinary action would be taken.

Commented Battalion Chief George Klein: "The sap comes up in all the roots and makes the nuts grow."

Crosby Son Defendant In Paternity Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A tall, brown-haired actress is demanding that Dennis Crosby pay $460.25 a month for support of her baby daughter. She says he is the child's father.

The 25-year-old son of singer Bing Crosby was named defendant Wednesday in a paternity and child-support suit filed by Mrs. Marilyn Scott, 27, a former telephone operator.

Young Crosby, now a Hollywood disc jockey, said he was not prepared to discuss the suit. He did say, however, that he has never admitted fathering the child. The girl was born 17 months ago.

Dennis married Las Vegas showgirl Pat Sheehan last year.

Disney Purchases Site Of First Gold Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The site of California's first recorded gold strike has been purchased by Walt Disney, a fellow who has struck a little gold in these parts himself.

Disney will use the site as a movie location and a ranch for polo ponies and thoroughbreds.

Woman Turns in Own Husband as Burglar

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—"He used to tell me he was going out and hold up somebody. At first I thought he was joking, but then I was afraid."

"He was getting closer to murder all the time."

Those were the reflections of a former Cleveland, Ohio, model who turned her husband in to police in connection with two holdups and a car theft.

Beatrice Colgan, mother of two, said Wednesday that for more than a year her husband, Robert William Colgan, 32, a real estate salesman, had been moody and mean.

Colgan was arrested at his home Sunday night. He told police he spent $251 taken in the holdups on household debts.

Mission of Mercy in Alaska Is Progressing

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—A four-day mission of mercy to save the life of an obscure Soviet fisherman was rapidly nearing completion today.

The 23-year-old Soviet fisherman was aboard the U. S. Coast Guard Steamer, en route to Cold Bay, Alaska, at the tip of the Alaska Peninsula.

News of Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After a three-year absence, Richard Burton is back in Hollywood — but not for long.

The British star of "The Robe" is out of tuxedos and into a business suit to play a modern doctor in "Bramble Bush," another probe of morality (or rather immorality) in New England. He said he may stay on for another film, but then he'll be tied up for some time.

He is lined up to play the singing lead in the new Lerner-Loewe show, "Jenny Kissed Me." It's a complete change of pace for the "My Fair Lady" authors, being an adaptation of a T. S. White book about King Arthur.

There has never been a week-end like it. That's the conclusion after three fabulous social evenings that saw virtually all of the film famous out in their jewels and minks.

It started Friday night with "An Evening with Betty Comden and Adolph Green" at the Huntington Theater — a benefit for the Reiss-Davis Clinic.

The Buddy Adlers' party for Ingrid Bergman on Saturday night was another memorable one. There can be no doubt how Hollywood regards the long-absent Swede. She was greeted with warmth by all her old friends.

After a Sunday rest, the big names turned out again for the Oscars and the Academy Ball that followed at the Beverly Hilton. No need to yearn for the good old days of Hollywood. They're still with us.

Scientists Spread Disease Germs To Sicken the Enemy

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—Scientists are launching biological warfare—spreading a disease to kill or sicken the enemy.

The enemy is some costly insects, not human beings.

A new biological warfare weapon aimed at insects was described today to the American Chemical Society by Robert Fisher of Bioform Corp., Wasco, Calif., and Lawrence Rosner of Rosner-Hixon Laboratories, Chicago.

This insect-killer is made of living spores from germs known as Bacillus Thuringiensis. It's designed to give leaf-eating insects a quick, fatal disease if they eat enough of the spores sprayed on plant leaves.

Fisher and Rosner said the insecticide — trademarked Thuricide — had passed tests showing it is not harmful or toxic to humans, other animals, and plants.

The insecticide now is being tested against some insects damaging a number of plants, including alfalfa, cabbages, celery, cotton, peas, beans, corn, tomatoes, and tobacco.

In another report, two Indianapolis chemists described a new fast-acting anesthetic, methohexal, which they said would be most valuable during brief operations.

It produces quick, brief anesthesia, said Drs. Robert E. McMahon and Wilbur J. Doran of Lilly Research Laboratories.

A barbiturate, methohexal is two to five times as potent, on weight basis, as other short-acting barbiturates and is effective only about half as long, McMahon said. Still under test, it has been used on more than 10,000 patients so far.

With each passing year activities on the county Cancer front increase astonishingly. The annual Cancer Crusade is actually under way with volunteers in many districts well-trained to do a tremendous job of public education and fund raising on "C" Day, Tuesday, April 14.

Planned to get the wheels in motion is an unusually fine Kick-off program scheduled for Monday evening at 8:00 in the YWCA gymnasium and plenty of outstanding talent will take the stage. Progress in cancer research has certainly become more noticeable of late so the Crusade slogan "Fight Cancer With a Check-up and a Check" becomes definitely timely. Do your part to rid humanity of the still-mysterious disease killer—dread Cancer!

In these present day of enlightenment, people who must care for sick-room patients at home, have learned that there are ways and means to make the task easier both for patient and amateur nurse. When proper equipment is used in the home, such as hospital beds, wheel chairs, walkers and other type of helpful items, the sick person is immediately more comfortable, in better spirits and on the way to speedy recovery because of such service.

Those in charge find it much easier, with less lifting and straining, when the right kind of furniture is on hand. It is also a truth that the patient becomes independent much sooner. It is wonderful to learn that sick-room equipment is available locally and that it need not necessarily be purchased.

The Warren Drug Store is approved headquarters for proper hospital or sick-room equipment including beds, wheel chairs, walkers and other similar items. These are available by merely reaching for your telephone and may be rented as an accommodation to those who must care for sick people at home. If it be your responsibility to speed some member of your family back to health, phone 1426 and avail yourselves of this highly specialized service.

After a lengthy absence from active work with the Warren Player's Club, it is certainly gratifying to find how much new talent has been signed up during the years. Many of the veterans are still around to lend the experienced touch to productions, but the addition of newcomers, who may or may not have previous experience in the acting field, means more exciting plays for local theatre-lovers to enjoy. The next show is "The Desk Set" to be presented May 7 and 8 to conclude the current season.

Doesn't it seem wonderful, even with expected rain and a few crisp mornings, to actually be able to discard cumbersome winter coats and don the lighter weight garments like jackets? However, it's foolish to assume that you can get through spring and early summer without a proper jacket—the kind that sheds the water but shuts out the off chilly winds. Men wear a jacket so often—doing yard work: running errands; hiking, golfing and the like. Naturally, when you select a jacket for the season, you'll want the very best—

The only thing wrong with the fact that spring has sprung is that eternal housecleaning that accompanies the weather change. Perhaps as the world progresses someone will invent a magic wand that once waved will make the dirt and dust that accumulates disappear! Maybe it could be used for dishes, ironing and other chores as well—but let's not hold our breaths while we await its arrival.

New Foam Plastic Smoke Originated By Woman Chemist

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

BOSTON (AP)—Betty Lou Raskin has fixed it so you could blow smoke rings out in space — with "holey smoke."

A rocket or space ship might shoot out bursts of this smoke for spotting by radar. The smoke particles could easily be given a metallic coating so they would reflect radar waves.

Or a smoke layer could create an artificial ionosphere, Miss Raskin said. The ionosphere is layers of electrified air which reflect radio waves back to earth, like a mirror. Metallized smoke particles, carrying electric charges, could form an ionosphere where you wanted it for radio communications.

To protect crops from frost, a smoke layer could be hung above an orange grove, for example. Cold air would be blocked from reaching down to frost the oranges, she said.

A similar "lid" might slow down evaporation of water from reservoirs during droughts.

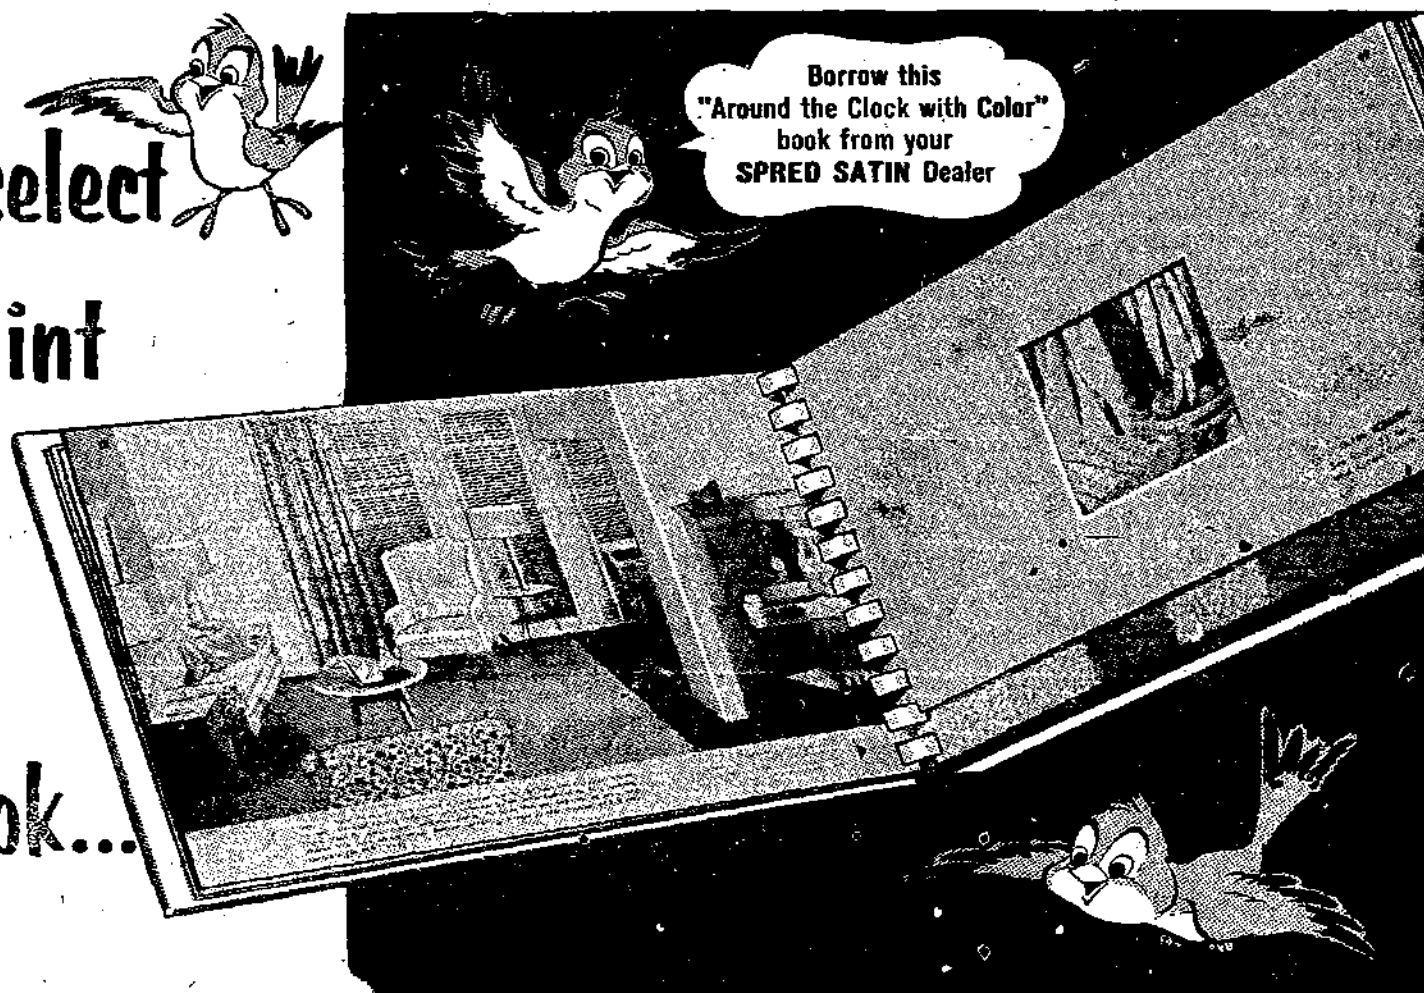

Plastic smoke can be made pure white for artificial snow, or create fog or smog for Hollywood movies; it could be colored pink or other color for sky-writing advertisements, and might be helpful in studying cloud-seeding and rain-making mechanisms.

So far, there's no reason to suspect the plastic smoke would be harmful to humans.

DESIGNS AT FRANKLIN

Paul A. M. Snyder, executive secretary of the Franklin Chamber of Commerce, is resigning. Mr. Snyder, who plans to move with his family to a southern state, set May 15 as the effective date of his resignation, but he asked that he be relieved of the duties of the office earlier if at all possible. He will remain in Franklin until summer so that his daughter may complete the school term. Mr. Snyder was appointed secretary of the chamber of commerce in June 1957.

Boy Receives Old-Fashioned Answer About Help for Horse

By C. YATES MCDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army, which abolished cavalry years ago, used old-fashioned horse sense in answering a boy's plea for help with his horse.

The boy with the problem is Philip Peatman, 11, Madera, Calif.

Philip addressed a letter to the "Chief of Cavalry," United States Army, Washington.

He explained he has two brothers, 12 and 6, and a 19-year-old horse.

The horse, Philip wrote, "rides well in the field but when we are coming home he wants to run back to the corral."

What Philip wanted to know was: "How would you stop him from running back to the corral? No matter how hard we pull he won't stop."

Although the Army abolished its chief of cavalry before World War II, the boy's letter fell into good hands in the adjutant general's office. Brig. Gen. Frank S. Henry, whose present job is handling the assignment of general officers, started his military career as a cavalryman and is rated one of the best horsemen in the Army.

His present specialty is tanks and armored warfare.

Horseman Henry told Philip in a letter sent from the Pentagon Thursday that his problem was "readily appreciated," because the Army in past years frequently had the same problem with its horses.

The general offered two suggestions to solve Philip's problem. First, he recommended using a double bridle with both a curb and snaffle bit, but urged Philip to talk this suggestion over with his dad "because some horses do not react too well with these bits."

Henry added that his two brothers, when returning home after a ride in the field, pull the rein on only one side. That would turn the horse in a small circle until he slows his gait.

Henry added that he fully realized that it is "pretty hard to teach a 19-year-old horse any new tricks, but I believe that if you will follow one or both of the suggestions, you should get a slower ride home."

Civil Service To Be Used For State Police

HARRISBURG (AP) — Col. Frank M. McCartney, state police commissioner, plans to use Civil Service examinations as the basis for promotion of state troopers.

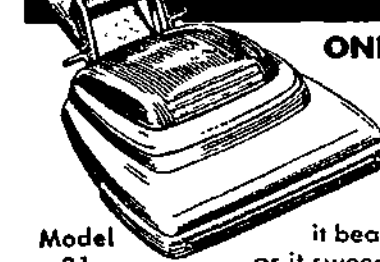

"This matter of promotions has been criticized in many aspects," McCartney said. "I am now arranging this new Civil Service set-up."

He said the system would apply to all but commissioned officers. As in the past, they will be advanced directly by the commissioner.

He said that under the plan the civil service commission instead of a state police examining board would hold written examinations for promotions to corporal, sergeant, first sergeant and lieutenant.

Smoking Is More Popular Among Men than Female Sex

By JAMES B. SIBBISON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Smoking is a lot more popular habit among men than it is among women, the world over.
A study by a special House tobacco subcommittee shows that out of 10 U.S. males smoke, only a little over 3 out of 10 American women do.
The situation is similar, the study says in Britain, Canada, Sweden and Denmark — except that some Danish women favor cigars and cigarillos to cigarettes.
The subcommittee, headed by Rep. John C. Watts (D-Ky), made the study to determine what can be done to boost declining U.S. tobacco sales abroad.
It discovered that people are puffing away at a record rate. But the smoking patterns vary.
The British, for example, are among the world's most loyal smokers. Their consumption continues to rise despite heavy taxes and a cigarette price averaging 50 cents a pack.
Why do people smoke, anyway?

"A surprising number of reasons are psychological," the study says, "associated with the stress, tensions and social demands of the modern world."
"Most smokers admit that there is more involved in smoking than what is obtained from tobacco itself, but that the tobacco does offer, with its nicotine, a real psychological feeling of tranquility and a variety of tastes."

Measure Makes Change In Vaccination Laws

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence today received for signature a bill requiring all children to be vaccinated against small pox before being admitted to kindergarten.
The House-passed bill was approved unanimously by the Senate Tuesday. It amends the school code to make vaccination mandatory for kindergarten youngsters. The present law requires vaccination only at the elementary school level.
Other House-passed bills approved by the Senate and sent to Lawrence would:
Allow electors to vote at a primary, as well as at a general election, on the question of joining union or merged school districts.
Boost the mileage allowance for borough and county officials in third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class counties from 8 cents to 10 cents for attending annual meetings of their office associations.
Allow Allegheny County to left contracts without competitive bids for items up to $1,000. The present limit is $500.

HIGHWAY FATALITY
KINGSTREE, S. C. (AP) — A head-on auto crash Tuesday killed William H. Picard, 28, of Pittsburgh, son of former golfing great Henry Picard.

Senators Invited To Make Public Payroll Figures

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators who want to make their payrolls public got an invitation today from Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) to go right ahead.
But Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, stood anchored against the kind of forced publication that Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) proposed in the Senate Tuesday.

"There is no need for the kind of bill Sen. Morse is proposing," Dirksen said. "Any member who wants to make a statement about who is on his payroll and how much they are paid can do so anytime."

"Those who don't care to disclose the individual salaries that are paid to their employees ought not to be forced to do so."

The House makes its payroll figures available, but public Senate records list only the names of employees and the total amount assigned the Senate for payment of them.

In the light of disclosures that some members of the House and Senate have hired relatives, a few senators have said they would have no personal objection to making their payroll records available. But they have not done so, contending such action would violate Senate custom.

Morse offered again a bill which would require all government officials who receive $10,000 annual salaries to file yearly reports showing the amounts and sources of their income.

This hand was actually played one year ago today. Take a look at the North and South hands only. Study the bidding and plan your play.

South did just that and took quite a while to see that his best chance was to win the opening heart lead, lay down the ace of spades and go after the diamonds. This play would work against many heart-diamond combinations including the actual East-West holdings but see what happened.

The ace of trumps was played and Sally Johnson of Westport Conn., who sat West dropped the king. Now South changed his plans. He was going to make seven. The ten of trumps was led and allowed to ride. With a murmur of "April Fool!" Sally took the jack of trumps and set the hand with the queen of hearts.

Sally had figured out the whole play while South was going through his calculations and while South might well have gone up with the queen of spades and make all the tricks I can't blame him for failing for Sally's play even on the First of April.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Look for bargains in chickens and a long list of vegetables in your favorite supermarket or neighborhood grocery this week-end.

Heavy supplies of tender young birds make fryers a bargain in many areas.

Agriculture Department experts expect this month's marketings of chickens to run about 10 per cent higher than last April's 120½ million birds. These seers look for the increased output to continue, too.

Beef and pork also come in for some attention, with specials on the former about evenly divided between chuck roast and the more expensive standing rib roasts. Rib prices are off 2 to 6 cents in widely scattered areas.

Pork bargains are mostly fresh pork or less - expensive smoked cuts such as picnics or butts. Leg of lamb is higher in some sections.

Bargains are available this week in fresh sweet corn and asparagus, which used to appear later in the season.

Also on the best buy list are iceberg lettuce, broccoli, carrots, spinach, celery, broccoli-rabe, collard, kale, new cabbage, potatoes, cucumbers, artichokes, endive and escarole. Celery and lettuce may tend to irregularity.

Tomatoes, radishes, sweet potatoes and mushrooms are rated good buys, while moderate prices are charged for cauliflower, snap beans, peppers, squash, egg plant and onions.

Bounteous supplies of apples, atmosphere storage, keep them on the bargain list.

Competition from apples is helping keep citrus fruit prices down, produce experts said. California's navel oranges, as well as Florida oranges and grapefruit, all remain outstanding bargains.

Fish Commission Plans Nine New Access Areas

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Fish Commission has approved a proposal authorizing negotiations for the purchase of nine new public access areas on four rivers and one lake.

The nine sites, on which the commission would build approaches to the waters for public use are located on the Allegheny River at Franklin, Emlenton and President; at Lacyville on the north branch of the Susquehanna; at Goldsboro on the lower stretches of the Susquehanna; at West Fairview on the Conodoguinet, Cumberland County; at Beaver on the Ohio River; at Clarion on the Clarion River, and on Duck Harbor Lake in Wayne County.

William Voigt Jr., executive director, said the commission at its meeting Monday also reserved 11 more miles of Common wealth streams for exclusive fly fishing.

Voigt said the commission action in reserving more waters for fly fishing increased the total trout stream mileage for this type of fishing to approximately 81 miles. He said there were close to 5,000 miles of trout streams in Pennsylvania.

HUNTING CRY

The fox hunters' cry of "Tally-ho!" is of uncertain origin, but probably is the English form of the French "taiaut" which is pronounced "ta-ee-oh." It is the cry of a dog handler when he sights the fox and is intended to urge on the hounds.

Work for Fresh, Clean Glow

A well-planned schedule is one way any teen-ager can organize her active life sufficiently to allow for a regular grooming program. For instance, homework can be done (left) while your hair is drying in rollers and pin curls. Shampoo it before you start studying. This will guarantee that you go to class with clean and shining hair. Drip-dry fashions.

Beauty is important to a girl in her teens. She wants to be pretty and popular, for school days aren't much fun if you're left out of the social whirl.

Unfortunately, the teen years are often the time when it takes a lot of effort to make the mirror give back a contented reflection. Baby prettiness is gone, and mature beauty has not yet formed. And so you have to work hard to look attractive.

The tools that will serve you best are soap and water, immaculate grooming and well-balanced meals.

Figure faults often crop up for a teen-ager because she is still growing. But the smart gal will correct them with proper food and exercise. But for the girl who needs to gain weight, a word to the wise: Be careful to choose nourishing food, for your in-between snacks. Too many sweets will play havoc with your skin.

Complexion problems are unwelcome guests during those all-important years. The best way to insure a healthy, glowing skin is to wash frequently with a clean, soapy cloth, rinse thoroughly, and finish up with a final cold splash.

If your face breaks out occasionally, be sure to keep your fingers away from it. It will greatly lessen the chance of spreading the infection. If acne is your problem, don't try to take care of it yourself. Consult your doctor.

The perfect hair groom-

Best time to do your own laundry is right after school so that the bathroom isn't cluttered up in the evening when the family wants to wash up for dinner. Five minutes each night before bed will take care of setting up exercises (right). And this nightly routine will work wonders in trimming down bulges.

stick and a light dusting of powder. You don't need any more than that except for an occasional formal evening.

Daily baths and weekly shampoos will add to your glamour, and should never be omitted. So on school days, why not take your bath and get into clean night clothes just before you sit down to do your homework. This way you won't be too tired to take care of your personal grooming before you go to bed.

Your homework will seem less difficult, too. For you'll be relaxed and fresh when you open that weighty textbook.

Just remember that cleanliness, grooming and proper eating habits are your means to beauty—and you'll be as pretty and sought after as any girl in your class.

Careful make-up is necessary for women whose skin has lost the glow of youth. For you, it will only detract from the fresh charm that is naturally yours. So restrict your make-up to lip-know how to show anger in the usual way because she never saw her parents in a fit of temper. So she pulled out her hair as a way of expressing her feelings.

Dr. Gordon said he convinced the parents it was all right to show anger, and gave the child some tips on how to throw a tantrum. This, he reported, stopped the hair pulling.

Dr. Reginald S. Lourie of the Pennsylvania State Welfare Department at Harrisburg, reported in the same panel discussion that self-mutilation by youngsters often is their way of symbolizing their desire to kill.

"Hell Fires" on Recommendation Of a Scientist

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
BOSTON (AP)—A scientist today declared we ought to create "hell fires" on earth, just to see what happens.

He warned the Soviet Union is probably trying to do it — first. The hell fires would be laboratory temperatures of 10,000 to 60,000 degrees — 2 to 12 times hotter than those usually produced on earth.

Out of research with them comes an entirely new chemistry — perhaps vastly more powerful rocket fuels, strong new materials, strange new chemicals.

A research jump into these "hell fires" was urged by Dr. Aristid V. Grosse, president of the Research Institute of Temple University, at opening sessions of the American Chemical Society's 135th national meeting.

"We simply don't know much about what happens in chemical and physical reactions above about 5,000 degrees," he said. "But temperatures above 10,000 degrees might lead to new fuels, rocket propellants, and materials able to resist tremendous heat."

"Our national security could be involved, if these high temperatures do hold secrets to new fuels and new chemicals."

"The Soviet Union is trying to leapfrog us in the missile race, and probably is working hard on facilities to create ultra-high temperatures."

Really high temperatures can be created by furnaces focusing the sun's ray, by some rocket motors, and by plasma jets, or streams of gases created by electric arcs.

Psychiatrist Teaches Little Girl How to Register Anger

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A psychiatrist says he has found a married couple who until recently never got angry — outwardly, at least.

But the couple had a little girl who sometimes pulled hairs out of her long, blonde tresses.

The couple took the child to Dr. Gene Gordon, of the Children's Hospital of Washington, D.C. Dr. Gordon told the American Orthopsychiatric Assn. Monday how he linked these two specimens of behavior.

The little girl, he said, didn't know how to show anger in the usual way because she never saw her parents in a fit of temper. So she pulled out her hair as a way of expressing her feelings.

Dr. Gordon said he convinced the parents it was all right to show anger, and gave the child some tips on how to throw a tantrum. This, he reported, stopped the hair pulling.

CONGRESS GOES WESTERN — Because of population shifts and the granting of statehood to Alaska and Hawaii, 13 states face loss of seats in the U.S. House of Representatives. Presidential electoral votes (the total of House plus Senate seats) would also be lost. But six other states may gain. That's the estimate of the U.S. Census Bureau, predicting the results of 1960's nationwide census. Newsmap is based on that prediction and reflects a westward trend in population and political influence. (Black figure is present number, white figure is new number, if changed.) California stands to be the biggest gainer with seven, though New York will retain the largest number despite losing three. The redistribution of seats, however, will not take effect until the 1962 elections. First presidential election in which the change may be felt will be in 1964. Although 19 seats will be lost, only 13 will be gained by other states. That is in order to bring the number of House members down to 435 the total fixed by law. Pennsylvania will follow New York and California

The Pick of New Paris Fashions

Clothes by Jules Crabay for Nina Ricci were the talk of Paris in the recent collections. Here are two of his designs, both destined to exert an influence on American fashion. Coat in hood's tooth check wool (left) has a lowered and outward curve for the shoulder seam, is worn over matching dress. Three-tiered cape effect lends shoulder width to this dress in a crisp, lightweight wool.—By ROSETTE HARGROVE, NEA Staff Correspondent, Paris.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that dieters get tired of hearing—overhearing:
“Hi, Fatso!”
“Say, ain't you been gaining a little weight lately?” (This is usually said to you after you've taken off 15 pounds.)
“Going on the wagon might help. On the other hand—in your case—it might kill you, too.”
“What's that you're carrying under your belt—a watermelon?”

“There's only one exercise that's any help—and that's pushing yourself away from the table with both hands.”
“Hi, Tubby!”
“I know just the perfect diet for you. It worked wonders for my uncle. You remember him—the one we buried last week.”
“Now take me, for example. I eat anything I want, any time I want, and I weigh exactly the same as I did 25 years ago.”
“Maybe it's your glands.”

Researcher Makes Discovery In Tracing Leukemia Virus

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer
EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. (AP)—Viruses, a suspect in the cause of leukemia, have been found in both human and chicken leukemia cells, a Duke University researcher said recently.

And another virus which lives in the human intestine has provided an important clue to a defense against cancer-causing viruses, a University of Pennsylvania scientist suggested.

Dr. Joseph W. Beard of Duke and Dr. Seymour Cohen of Pennsylvania spoke at the week-long American Cancer Society seminar on cancer research problems and progress.

Dr. Beard told how the virus causes leukemia in chickens—a disease that each year costs the U.S. poultry industry many millions of dollars.

The virus invades the blood cells and converts their power plants into factories to produce more virus. As the virus units come off the stolen assembly line, they infect more blood cells and turn them into more virus factories.

There is a great spurt of white cell growth in the blood—as if the cells are trying to outgrow the virus, Dr. Beard said. The viruses have discovered the secret of uncorking life's principal store of energy, a molecule package called ATP.

The virus, masquerading as an enzyme, knocks off an atom from this ATP bundle of energy exploding the energy-packed compound. The cancer cell then spends this energy wantonly, probably producing more cancer cells.

“Here's an interesting item in the paper. It says obesity is harder to cure than cancer.”
“Hi, Lardbucket!”
“Haven't you been losing a little lately? Your hair, I mean.”
“I guess everything you eat just turns to fat, doesn't it?”
“No, I think you girls are all wrong about Grace. If it were what you think it is, she'd be knitting things.”
“Can you get up off my lap for a moment, Grace? My leg's gone to sleep.”
“Hi, Chubby!”
“They say her grocer retired last week and bought himself a big new home in Florida.”
“Frankly, Grace, I'd think you'd be glad to have a little extra weight like that. I hate myself for being so thin.”
“I guess sometimes when you are counting calories you just lose count, eh, Grace?”
“I did not say she was fat. I just said her girdle deserved a Purple Heart.”
“Hi, Polka!”
“Can I tempt you with a little gravy, Jim?”
“Seriously, have you considered psychiatry? Maybe you're a compulsive eater.”
“What I wonder, Jim, is who ties your shoelaces for you in the morning?”
“All right kids, let's have a race. Whoever runs around Uncle Jim three times first wins.”
“Hi, Fatso!”
“Maybe if you ate slower—”
“She never eats between meals but every time she eats she makes a meal of it.”
“She claims she eats like a bird. She must mean a pelican.”
“Have you tried eight prunes and a glass of clam juice?”
“A person your size shouldn't wear stripes going that way.”
“Hi, Elephant Boy!”
“It's called the new atomic diet. You fast for three days and then—”
“If the button ever pops off his vest, it'll be our first successful moon shot.”
“Don't lose heart, Jim. Keep your chins up!”
“Hi, Strappy!”

Rising Restiveness Reported Among Young Red Citizens

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

"People's squads" are popping up in many areas of the Soviet Union — particularly in the non-Russian republics — to crack down on rising restiveness in the younger generation.

A steady run of reports about youthful violence indicates the Communist party is having serious trouble keeping Soviet youth under its collective thumb. The terms hint of growing discontent with the central rule in Moscow.

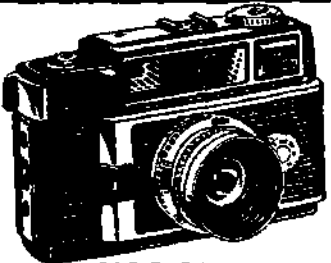

"People's squads" are described as groups of volunteer workers banded together for the protection of the social order. The squads are told to try persuasion on violators of the public order. If that doesn't work, the squads are to turn offenders over to the militia.

A group of 60 such volunteers was set up in Tiflis, capital of Stalin's native province, Georgia, whose sturdy and independent-minded people long have been a source of trouble for Moscow. Groups of about 20 each have been set up in other towns.

In Yerevan, capital of Soviet Armenia, where Dep. Premier A. I. Mikoyan was born, the party recently held a conference on maintenance of public order. Once again the establishment of "public order" squads was announced. Party emissaries went to factories and enterprises to explain to workers why the squads are needed.

In Turkmenistan's capital, Ashkhabad, whose central Asian people are another minority under Great Russian rule, the party complains about "young drunken factory workers" assaulting and insulting Soviet citizens in the street. A people's squad hauled a clutch of offenders off to the local militia.

These published Soviet reports tend to support rumors from central Europe that the Russians are having trouble with their non-Russian republics. There are rumors of a resurgence of nationalism in the republics, particularly in the Ukraine, a rich breadbasket for the U.S.S.R. where nationalism always has been strong.

Safe Driving May Pay Off Soon for Pennsylvanians

PHILADELPHIA, April 3 (U.P.)—Automobile insurance rates may be reduced for safe drivers in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware next year.

A proposed 20 per cent reduction for any private passenger car would be granted drivers with a record of no accidents or moving traffic violations in the three years before.

The cut would apply to liability and medical payments protection and to collision coverage.

Drivers with a record of a single accident or violation in the three years before their policy renewal would go on paying the standard rates for their area.

Those debited with two accidents or violations would pay 25 per cent more. Three black marks would raise the rate by 50 per cent. Four would mean a 75 per cent increase and the standard rates would be doubled for drivers with five or more accidents or violations against them.

Where a family car is involved, records of all members who drive must be clear in order to benefit it from the rate reduction. A program to test the new system of adjustable rates in California was announced by insurance company officials two days ago.

Nuclear Reactor Energy Converted To Electric Power

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP)—The first direct conversion of nuclear reactor energy into electric power was announced today by the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory.

The LASL - developed plasma thermocouple gave enough power to light an electric light bulb for almost 12 hours before it was shut down and dismantled for analysis.

The achievement was the result of an experiment in which the plasma thermocouple was placed in the core of a heterogeneous research reactor, laboratory officials said.

A thermocouple is a means of producing electricity by bringing two different metals into contact then cooling one metal and heating the other.

The Los Alamos thermocouple is the result of a laboratory experiment which substituted ionized cesium gas—the plasma—for one of the metallic elements. The other metallic element is enriched uranium.

The device bypasses the intermediate step performed by turbines in the present conversion of nuclear power to electricity. It also represents a saving in weight, bulk, and complexity over the turbine-generated electricity.

The experimental plasma thermocouple resembled an empty frozen fruit juice can. The source of power was a rod of enriched uranium about a quarter inch in diameter and about three quarter inches long.

The rod was suspended in the center of the cell and surrounded by cesium gas. When the assembly was lowered into the core of a reactor the neutron flow activated uranium fission heating in the center of the can, while the flow of the reactor coolant around the outside of the can dropped the temperature of the cesium plasma.

Laboratory officials said the implications of the experiment in future atomic energy developments are enormous as are the uses of the thermocouple in the field of nuclear propulsion in both submarines and space travels.

A team of 10 scientists headed by George Grover completed the experiment in a little more than three years. Others in the group were Jack Barger, George Erickson, Thurman Frank, John Hopkins, Daniel Kelly, William Ranken, Duane Roehling, and Ernest Salmi, all of Los Alamos, and R. W. Pidd, a consultant from the University of Michigan.

The Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory is operated by the University of California for the Atomic Energy Commission.

The Mature Parent

She's 'Sweetest Mother' But Pays Price in Tension

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Every Saturday night 16-year-old Ted initiates a little ritual with his mother. Just before leaving for a date, he asks her for an extra $5 "just in case." Opening her bag, she says nervously, "Don't you think you should ask Dad to increase your allowance, dear?" Hugging her, Ted laughs, "Oh, I'll give it back, Mom. Don't worry."

But Ted never does repay the $5 bills.

So his mother is increasingly uneasy about giving them to him. After he's left, she'll think, "Oh, I do wish Ted would face up to the fact that he wants more allowance and ask his father for it openly."

Why doesn't she express this wish with firmness and finality to her son?

She can't. Another, more powerful wish overwhelms it. Though she wishes Ted would stop using her to solve his financial problems, she also wishes him to regard her as the sweetest mother in the world. She has no inkling of the power of this second wish or how it compels her to keep on indulging Ted.

In psychological terms, Ted's mother is immobilized by "unconscious conflict."

Many of us are. We want a new spring coat but also wish so much to appear economical to our husband that we don't ask him for the money. We want to blow up at an interfering sister-in-law but at the same time wish to appear able to get along with everybody.

Just as Ted's mother is unconscious of the powerful wish that compels her to help him, we don't know why we grudgingly continue to wear our old spring coat or furiously endure our relative's bossiness.

These conflicts between our actual wishes and our unconscious ones make for great inward tension.

Such depressions often tell us that we are the victims of ambitions to appear to be what we are not—the sweetest mother in the world, the "good" wife who wants nothing for herself, the amiable person who can get along with everybody.

It is these romantic visions of ourselves, manipulating us without our recognizing them, which make it impossible to act on our genuine wishes.

Four-Piece Jazz Combo Entertains At Church Service

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — It was strange to be hearing this kind of music in a room where there wasn't a blue veil of cigarette smoke and no undercurrent sounds of ice clinking into glasses.

The four piece jazz combo sent out the modern sound in St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church.

"We intended to show our youth that religion is not old-fashioned," said the Rev. Anthony P. Treasure, rector of St. Paul's.

On Sunday, in New England, where great pride is taken in the past—this small church was trying something new. The music was the "Twentieth Century Folk Mass" written a few years ago by the Rev. Geoffrey Beaumont, vicar of St. George's church, Cambridge, England.

It started with the ripple of a piano, then brushes massaging a drum, and finally the bass and alto sax, while youth who came to pray listened knowingly and their elders just listened.

This was the way the solemn Mass had begun — a so-called "Jazz Mass" before a standing room crowd.

The Rev. Mr. Treasure told this conservative Anglican parish "We cannot leave a part of our life behind us as we come to the house of the Lord."

The Rev. Mr. Treasure is 37. He said the mass was an attempt to place the solemn Eucharist in a familiar setting. The musicians are all professionals from neighboring Stamford.

As the congregation left the church and strolled down the Norwalk green, they had mixed reactions.

A New York advertising director said it wasn't really anything new. "Some of the 11th century plain chants, were originally drinking songs," he said.

One high school student said she liked it "but I wouldn't want to hear it every Sunday."

BARNES

BARNES — Robert Miley of Sheffield, Youth Ambassador to Yugoslavia last summer, will be guest speaker in Barnes Methodist church at 8:00 p. m. April 17. All are welcome to hear this popular and interesting speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Verbosky entertained 36 friends at a dancing party at the American Legion Home Saturday evening. Nancy Parker and brother, of Warren, playing accordion and drums, furnished music for square dances and polkas. Mr. and Mrs. Verbosky will observe their 27th wedding anniversary April 18.

Exotic Scent Highlights Those Special Dates

Don't Be a Shrinking Violet

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Many American women shy away from what they consider the more exotic perfumes. They tend to rely heavily on the flower-scented colognes on the theory that they're playing it safe with these.

But the truth is that a flower-scented cologne is all wrong for a big evening out. This is every woman's chance to feel like a femme fatale even if she's spent the whole day over the kitchen stove and got a sitter for the children only at the last moment.

For such big events, she should reserve one perfume which is musky, exotic and very nearly Oriental in feeling. What with the high price of almost everything these days, she probably can't afford a large range of perfume scents. But she can fix on one favorite which she knows does the most for her. And she can let friends and family know that this is what she would like on gift-giving occasions during the year.

For it perks up any woman's spirits to have a really big evening out now and then.

For the kind of evening when a girl really dresses, a sophisticated perfume is a must. The girl uses one which is a truly memorable scent.

Alger Hiss To Be Granted Passport For Travel Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alger Hiss, former State Department official convicted of perjury in a case involving charges of spying for the Soviet Union, will be granted a passport for travel abroad, the State Department announced today.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said in response to an inquiry that Hiss had filed application "and we have decided to grant the passport."

"He had applied for travel to England, France, Holland, and possibly other Western countries," White said.

He gave that answer when asked whether Hiss would go to the Soviet Union. White declined to get drawn into a discussion as to whether Hiss could go to the Soviet Union.

He would say only that the former official would be given a passport such as any other citizen would receive.

Hiss has been in business in New York since his release from prison in 1964 after serving nearly four years for perjury.

The perjury accusation was based on his sworn denial he had passed secret government documents to a courier for a Soviet spy ring.

Hiss insisted he was innocent.

RADIO and TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — Television shows come from practically everywhere these days. This week a program is being taped from an empty freighter moored on a bleak stretch of the Bayonne, N.J., waterfront.

Technicians and actors are swarming over the ship like boys playing a serious game. And serious indeed is "The Strange Ordeal of the Normandier" which "Omni-bus" will present Sunday over ABC-TV (5 p.m., EST).

The program is based on the recently published book by an Englishman, H. L. Tredree, one of two living survivors of a sea tragedy in World War I involving the S. S. Normandier.

Her crew stricken with black-water fever on the way from West Africa to a Canadian port and her engines dead in a raging gale, the ship became the scene of despair, madness and heroism before

American warships came to her aid. Tredree, then 17, was the ship's radio operator.

William A. Graham, director of the "Omni-bus" production, says that converting the modern freighter Oregon Sword into the old tramp Normandier and depicting the desolate South Atlantic on the Bayonne waterfront involve some difficult problems.

How, for example, do you create the effect of a hurricane in New York harbor?

"We're fortunate in dealing with a most cooperative fire department in Bayonne," Graham said. "It's permitting us to use its hoses so that we can churn up the water to resemble storm-tossed waves. Winds are created by giant fans and sprayers."

A new camera gimmick enables the technicians to give the illusion of the ship rolling and pitching violently. One of the most difficult jobs has been to disguise a modern freighter to look like an old tramp built at the turn of the century.

The diesel engine room of the Oregon Sword was camouflaged, with a dummy boiler serving for the coal-burning scenes. The fairly luxurious crew's quarters (three hands to a cabin) have been dirtied and crowded to look like the Normandier (10 to a cabin).

Robert Saudek Associates, producers of "Omni-bus," are supplying electricity from shore-side since the ship's generators are dead. One problem has been a lack of heat, for this is a show in which the entire cast is necessarily all wet a good deal of the time.

Actor Rex Thompson, 16, is playing the role of Tred. Altogether, about 100 actors and technicians are sweating out the ordeal of the Oregon Sword — or the Normandier.

Car Engineering and Driver Know-How Not Ready For Daytona Track

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Daytona International Speedway is so fast it is already out of competitive racing for speedway type cars after its first race—and two deaths.

Bill France, president of the speedway, said Tuesday the extremely high speeds of a 100-mile race Saturday prompted track officials to conclude that race car engineering and driver know-how are not ready for this modern racing plant.

Jim Rathmann of Miami won the 100-miler at an average of 170.262 miles an hour — a world record for a closed course speedway.

George Amick of Rhinelander, Wis., was killed when his car cartwheeled in the final lap of the race. Marshall Teague of Daytona Beach was killed in a practice run several weeks ago.

A scheduled Fourth of July 300-mile race for Indianapolis-type racing cars has been canceled. In its place will be a 250-mile stock car race for late model sedans and convertibles.

ANCIENT INSTRUMENT

The psaltery was an ancient Hebrew stringed instrument, played by plucking with the fingers and shaped somewhat like a harp. Later, it had a keyboard mechanism and from it gradually were evolved the spinet, harpsichord and piano.

Modern Cartagena is Spain's chief naval base and the United States now has a 10 million dollar base.

Ingenuity Helps Frame Budget Pictures

BY KAT SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

When you're furnishing a home from scratch, the budget allocation for accessories is mighty slim, if it can be figured at all. But few people will deny that such things as pictures bring warmth and livability to a room which is "brand new."

There are rafts of pictures—etchings, prints, lithographs, oils, watercolors. Those which best suit a person's tastes and the background available can only be determined by the person who will live with them.

Often, though, good framed pictures are too costly for a young couple who must buy so many other things.

Prints for framing are one solution to the problem. Unless you can really frame them yourself, however, this, too, can run into an expense.

Another solution that intrigues me because it is so simple transforms new and handsome place-mats into equally handsome pictures. Those can be framed in readymade frames, without benefit of glass.

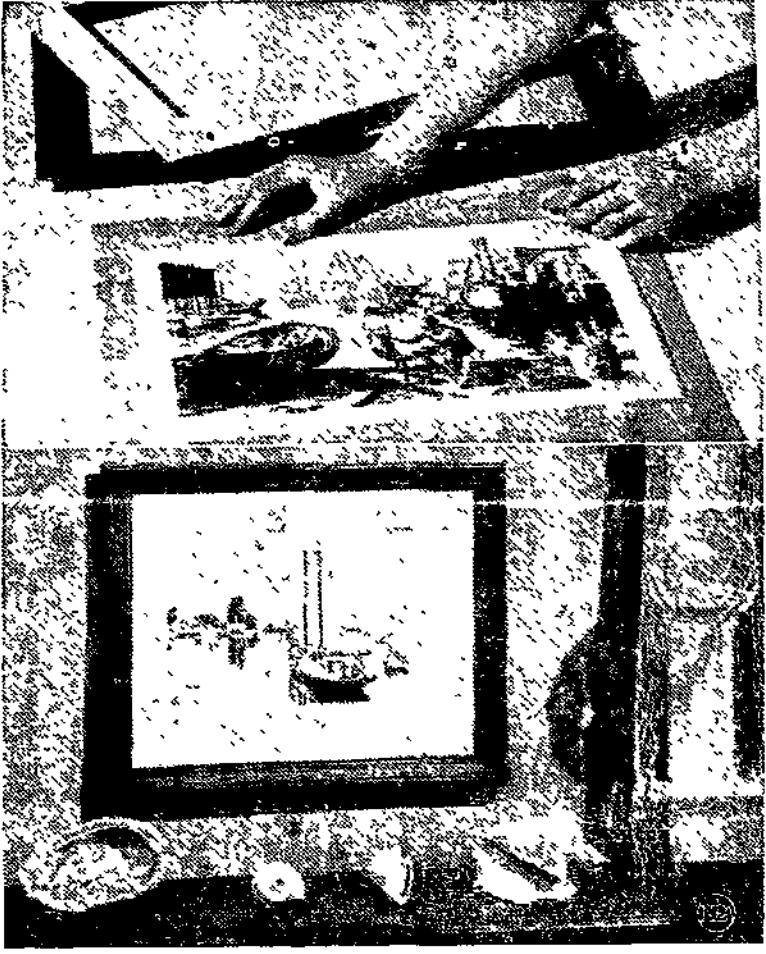

The reason is that the mats are sealed in a dull-finished polyethylene envelope which protects the artwork and can be wiped clean, they are, after all, designed to be place-mats.

The mat finish gives a more attractive cover than a glossy finish, I think.

THE IDEA wouldn't be much good if the mats weren't really attractive. I happen to like etchings, and one set of four mats are four different etchings of harbor scenes by that famous actor, the late Lionel Barrymore.

Other pictures in the new series include four Americana scenes of early days in the large cities by C. C. Beall.

There are also six color reproductions of game birds in flight by Peter Scott, and a romantic group of southern scenes. The procedure for framing is simple, and the cost will run about three dollars each, including the picture. If you're a twosome, you might like to frame two, keep two place-mats for table use.

WHEN WE TRIED IT with the etchings, we used readymade, 16x20-inch unpainted wooden frames, stained to a medium brown to complement the sepia tones of the pictures. The picture is attached to a backing board with cellulose tape. A mat board cut to fit leaves a small border of the placemat edge showing all around for depth.

Picture is then fitted into the frame. The mat board could be covered with fabric, or a self-adhesive paper in a color or pattern, to get other effects.

The nautical scenes of the etchings suggested a setting using a few sea shells and fish-net curtains caught with glass balls.

LUNG CANCER RISING

The shocking increase in lung cancer continues. The American Cancer Society states that 35,000 Americans will die of lung cancer this year and 30,000 of them will be men. The Society urges a yearly chest X-ray for all adults.

Eleanor Is Not Tireless

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (M)—Ms. Franklin D. Roosevelt is not tireless after all. At the age of 74, she sometimes falls asleep in company.

Authority for this is Nina Roosevelt, 16, daughter of Mrs. Roosevelt's son John.

There had been a general impression that Mrs. Roosevelt was chaperoning Nina on their recent trip to the Middle East. The girl dispelled this in an interview at a book store where the President's widow was autographing copies of her book "On My Own."

"Grandma's absolutely marvelous," said Nina.

"I know you think she never tires. Well, one of the reasons is that she's got the knack of falling off to sleep wherever she is, even on her feet."

"It can be awkward if she's in company. She did it in Iran and Egypt when people were talking shibbole-de-hi that did not really interest her."

"I keep a very close watch. If I can catch her just as her head is nodding, one tap on the ankle is enough. But once her head reaches her chest, it takes a good old-fashioned shake.

"People forget that she's 74. They'd have her climbing any number of stairs or walking miles over cobblestones unless I put my foot down."

Nina said her own ambition is to get into the U. S. State Department's Foreign Service and have a diplomatic career in the Middle East. To this end she is studying Arabic and Hebrew.

At this point grandma joined the group. "You've been talking to my granddaughter?" she said. "Well in that case I guess there's nothing left to say."
